Fascisti Slain

BERNE (AP)—The Fascist press in Italy said today a Republican Fascist leader named Mengolini had been killed by political opponents and declared his death would be avenged. Another newspaper article said Ettore Muti, former Fascist secretary previously reported to have died, actually was killed after he had plotted a "March on Rome" to free Mussolini shortly after the latter's ouster.

Aluminum Workers Slowly Returning

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que. (CP)—Officials of the Aluminum Company of Canada reported today that "everything is gradually going back to normal" in their plant, where some workers went on strike at midnight Saturday. The officials said the workers have been gradually reporting back for work ever since the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and troops from a nearby training camp had scattered picket lines and opened the way for those who wished to return to their jobs.

"Everything is going back to normal, but three pot-lines in plant 2 are still frozen," the officials said. Because of this, they said, too many men were reporting for work and getting them back to normal operation is a "slow, tedious job," the official said.

The R.C.M.P. and the troops remained on hand while the workers filtered back. This morning, about 150 pickets some distance from plant 2 shouted boos and catcalls at the returning workers.

Jap Plane Attacked In Aleutians Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Japanese bomber operating in the vicinity of U.S. troops' positions on Attu Island, in the Aleutians, was attacked by a navy patrol bomber, and probably damaged, Sunday afternoon (Oct. 25, at the point on the other side of the international date line), the navy reported today.

This was the third recent occasion on which the navy reported presence of enemy aircraft in the vicinity of the Aleutians.

LAST ACT FOR 'THE GREAT PETERS'—These two photos show the end of a famed circus performer, "The Great Peters," who died of a broken neck in a plunge from the top of a St. Louis arena during the annual Firemen's Thrill Show. Death was instantaneous when the elastic rope failed to withstand the shock of the 125-foot drop.

Faint SOS Heard May Be Signals By Lost Bomber

ANCIENNE LORETTE, Que. (CP)—A faint SOS, believed to have come from one of the "Gibson Girl" portable radio transmitters carried by the missing R.C.A.F. Liberator, was picked up at 8.50 this morning by a searching Anson in the area 25 miles northwest of Grand Mere on the Matawin River, a tributary of the St. Lawrence.

The crew saw no sign of the missing craft or its 24 passengers. However, other planes combing the same area had yet to report to the interrogation room here. Meanwhile, this signal report spurred the searchers and planes converged on the spot from various parts of eastern Canada.

The location of the signal indicated the report of a heavy-motored plane being heard off the beam from Mont Joli on a course over the wild mountainous Laurentide National Park area may have been well founded.

FOOD FOR 3 DAYS

Until the SOS was picked up, the tangle of mountain peaks, deep ravines and lake-dotted plateaus that make up the wild fastness of northern Quebec had held its secret of the missing bomber. The passengers of the plane had rations for only three days and automatic positional bearing devices when they left an east coast Canadian port for Montreal last Tuesday.

Equipped with new evidence of the course of a big plane which apparently had taken a wide off-beam loop through the wild north country area lying roughly in the triangle from the Saguenay River's mouth, Lake St. John and Quebec City, searching pilots winged over that treacherous land again this morning.

PIGION MAY BE CLUE

MONTREAL (AP)—Rev. J. A. Gauthier, parish priest at St. Simeon, about 90 miles northeast of Quebec, said in a telegram to the Canadian Press in Montreal today he had found a homing pigeon, bearing R.C.A.F. and R.A.F. leg-bands, the day a big R.C.A.F. Liberator was reported missing.

He said the leg-bands bore numbers and letters, but he did not list them in his telegram. He said he was holding the pigeon at the Presbytery in St. Simeon.

Officials of the R.A.F. Transport Command at nearby Dorval said Liberator's sometimes carry pigeons. They will attempt to find out whether the bird was from the missing plane.

Second Week of Loan R.A.F. Has 173%

The Royal Air Force in Canada is doing a good job of supporting the Victory Loan, according to latest figures issued by the National War Finance committee officials today.

In Victoria the R.A.F. has contributed 173 per cent. The Royal Canadian Navy is second in line with 74 per cent, and the R.C.A.F. third with 70 per cent. Fort Hardy R.C.A.F. has 100 per cent.

The army figures are rising slowly and steadily, with 54 per cent reported to date.

Combined subscriptions from Vancouver Island forces total $641,700, or 68 per cent of the armed services objective.

The Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion, which has been so active in previous loans, has so far subscribed over $3,000.

General figures for Vancouver Island indicate steady sales, but not much margin to spare on daily average requirements. Most units have from one-quarter to one-third of their loan quotas.

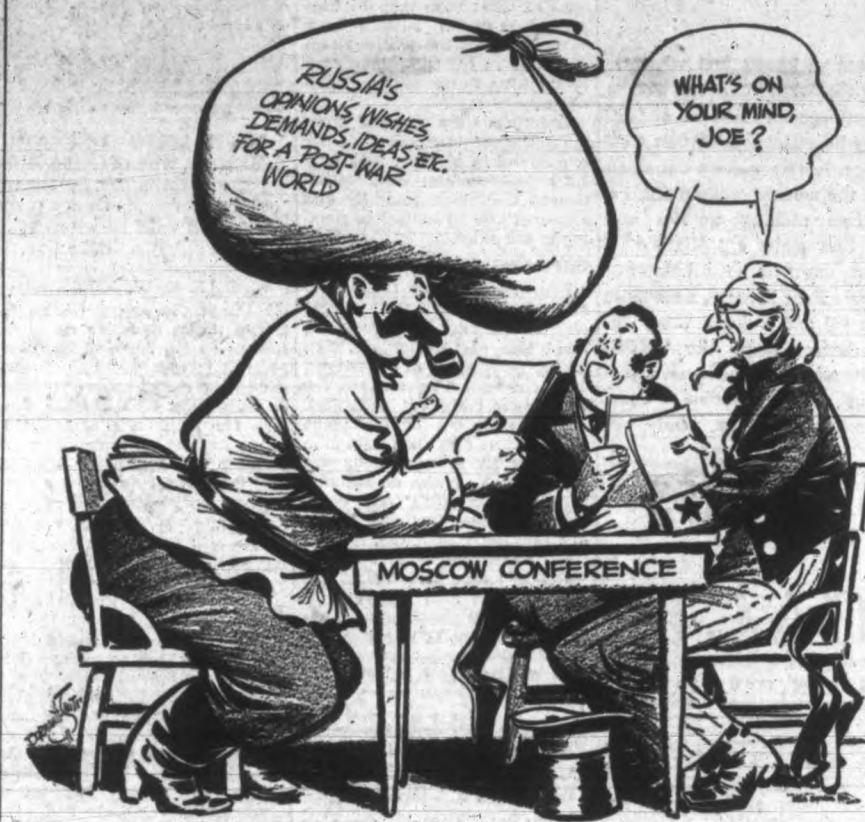

Victoria city, under J. D. Munro, organizer, has $1,194,000 (quota $4,200,000); Oak Bay, C. O. Treleaven, $306,400 (950,000); Saanich, Maj. Geo. Yardley, $215,151 (950,000); Esquimalt, Maj. Yardley, $103,150 ($950,000); Cowichan-Ferguson Hoey, $188,200 ($730,000); Courtenay, A. Gillespie, $175,000 ($450,000); Nanaimo, W. Bowden, $245,000 (725,000); and Alberni, Peter Bell, $170,450 ($620,000).

Seed Peas Burned

DISHMAN, Wash. (AP)—Six million pounds of recently harvested seed peas were destroyed in a blaze which destroyed a three-story warehouse of the Morrison Bros. Seed Co. here Sunday night. Deputy Sheriff Ralph Buckley said the loss would run to $1,000,000, including peas, machinery and the building.

Soviet Army Captures Dnepropetrovsk

The Most Important Question To Be Settled

5th Army Storms Vital Junction; 8th Menaces Rear of Germans

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS (AP)—Violent mountain battles flared on the 5th Army front in Italy today as the result of an Allied drive of three miles that took the vital rail and road junction of Sparanise, 13 miles from the western coast.

The advance of the 5th Army placed British and United States troops north of the stoutly defended Regia defence canal leading to the sea and imperiled the position of the Nazi troops in that area.

"If they don't get out they will be caught in a pocket," a military commentator said. The German launched several counterattacks in an effort to relieve their position but, in the words of the commentator, they were driven off with "a bloody nose."

The tempo of the war on the sea and in the air stiffened as heavy bombers blasted southern Austria and raided the airfield at Tirana, Albania, for the second time.

On the 8th Army's eastern front, Gen. Montgomery's men poured into an enlarged bridgehead across the Trigno River to attack German positions beyond.

On the 5th Army front heavy German counterattacks flared east from Sparanise toward Pignatone and Magliara. Allied troops smashed back four Nazi assaults in 24 hours.

The 5th Army advance in a mountainous area overlooking the coast constituted a severe threat to the entire German position and if continued would seriously endanger the enemy's Massico Ridge line.

Sparanise, captured by the 5th Army, is about seven miles north of the Volturno River near the center of the 5th Army line, and four miles due west of Pignatone, in Allied hands for several days.

The advance of the 8th Army posed an increasing threat to the inland road junction town of Isernia and eventually the rear of the German Massico Ridge line.

Tirana in Albania and targets in southern Austria were raided by heavy bombers.

The railway yards and aircraft factory at Pistoia near Florence were bombed Sunday night and other communications line at Fomia on the west coast and nearby Minturno were blasted again.

In turn the Germans struck again at Naples, now being converted into an Allied supply port, and 15 Nazi supply planes were shot down Sunday, mostly in sky tangles over Italy. Three of them were bombers which attempted to raid Naples.

The Germans stepped up their air defense by throwing at least 60 fighters against the Allied attackers.

U.S. four-engine bombers made the stab into southern Austria. They encountered bad weather and could not report an accurate observation of results.

British Cruiser Sunk in Battle; Destroyer Hit

LONDON (CP)—The British cruiser Charybdis was sunk and the destroyer Limbourne was damaged and had to be sunk during a Channel naval battle Saturday. The Admiralty announced today.

The two vessels were part of a Royal Navy force engaged in an offensive sweep off the north coast between Ushant and the Channel Islands. Both vessels were struck by torpedoes.

The Berlin radio announced Saturday that a British force had clashed during the night with a German force protecting a convoy. The Germans claimed fire from their vessels was so effective the British force "did not even get near." They said at least two torpedo hits "on a large enemy unit."

H.M.S. Charybdis, a 5,450-ton vessel, was built in 1940. She carried 10 5.25-inch guns and six torpedo tubes. The destroyer Limbourne was laid down in 1939 and completed in 1940. The 904-ton vessel carried four 4-inch guns.

Italians Honor Gen. Clark

NAPLES (AP)—Lt. Gen. Mark Clark, receiving an honorary degree of political science from the Royal University of Naples, told the Italian people today that he was confident Italy would see a renaissance, and added: "We ask only enough of your Italian soil to bury our gallant dead."

Big Power City Of Dnieper Bend Cleared of Nazis

LONDON (AP)—Russian armies under Gen. Rodion Malinovsky and Gen. Ivan Konev today recaptured the industrial city of Dnepropetrovsk, which the Germans had held for more than two years, thus cleaning out the enemy from the northeastern corner of the Dnieper River loop.

An order of the day issued tonight by Marshal Stalin announced the capture of the city, and also Dneprodzerzhinsk, formerly Kamenskaya, 20 miles to the west inside the river bend.

Hundreds of thousands of German troops are imperiled by the huge Soviet forces spilling into the river bend north of the Crimea.

Dnepropetrovsk, held by the Germans since Aug. 26, 1941, already had been by-passed by the main force of Soviet troops driving half-way across the loop to the approaches of Krivoi Rog, 85 miles to the southwest.

The Berlin radio earlier today had said that Russian troops on the east bank of the Dnieper opposite the big metallurgical centre had crossed river north and south of the city. These units apparently linked up with others driving in from the west for the final blow.

Russians 6 Miles From Krivoi Rog

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—The Nazis today threw in reinforcements of troops, planes, tanks and artillery and fought back violently in a desperate bid to stem the mighty Red Army offensive which threatened to pin them in a large sack in the Dnieper River bend as the Russians rolled on to within six miles of the iron and rail centre of Krivoi Rog.

The only way out of the sack is a 50-mile-wide gap from Krivoi Rog southeastward to the Dnieper.

As the Soviet right flank pushed down on Krivoi Rog and other powerful groups moved through the broken Zaporozhe-Melitopol line toward the Crimea, several highly important cities were definitely outflanked and it appeared dubious the Germans could hold them much longer.

These included Dnepropetrovsk and nearby Dneprodzerzhinsk, one-time centres of Soviet electric power, and Nikolov, where some of the finest manganese ore deposits in the Soviet Union are located.

There is only one way out of Dnepropetrovsk for the Germans and that is down a single-track railway to Nikolaev, through the bottleneck of Kosiovna, also in the Dnieper elbow.

The big Red Army breakthrough of the Zaporozhe-Melitopol line brought another threat to the almost encircled Germans in the Dnieper elbow. If the Russians can push on through the Askaniya steppe the exit from the bend would be threatened from two sides.

Some of the heaviest fighting spread over the steppe as the German commanders, watching their best divisions meet defeat, tried fiercely to keep from losing the Crimea.

B.C.E.R. Purchase Put Up to Hart

VANCOUVER (CP)—The next move toward municipal acquisition of B.C.E.R. services was left to Premier Hart by the Vancouver city council today.

The council decided to refrain from making any direct request to the Premier for immediate action, but agreed progress could be expected as a result of an application which it will make to him to find out:

1. When he intends to release the contents of an interim report which he has received from the Public Utilities commission after hearings on B.C.E.R. rate structures.

2. On what date the city may expect to receive the commission's final findings, which would be useful in any future negotiations of "public ownership" of power enterprises.

30 Paratroopers Jump at Winnipeg For Victory Loan

WINNIPEG (CP) — Garbed in their khaki battle costumes and their green plastic crash helmets, 30 crack Canadian paratroopers thrilled 60,000 Winnipeg citizens Saturday with an exhibition of their art and craftsmanship.

Bailing out of a Lockheed Lodestar plane 800 feet above Assiniboine Park in a mass demonstration staged as a feature of the Fifth Victory Loan campaign, these sky soldiers glided to earth amid the cheers of the onlookers.

It was the first time paratroopers had performed before the Canadian public since they came into existence, and a preview of what soon may be happening in Adolf Hitler's back yard. Many of the troops participating in the jump may soon be sparking future military operations.

The men were dropped from the plane in two sticks of 15, and landed in a target area only 1,400 feet square. Both sticks cleared the plane perfectly and appeared like 15 umbrellas floating in the skies.

CUTS LEG IN LANDING

Four members of the second stick over drifted their target and landed in a surrounding bluff. One of the jumpers, Sgt. Cecil Kavanagh of Winnipeg, came out with a leg cut, but the other three came out unscathed.

First man out of the plane which roared over the target area well over 100 miles an hour was Lt. Col. R. F. Routh of Toronto, officer commanding A35 Canadian Parachute Training School at Camp Shilo, Man. Col. Routh's jump was a "single" or test leap. As soon as he had landed the first stick of men followed.

Each of the paratroopers wore a Fifth Victory Loan badge during the descent because all had subscribed to the loan.

Decorated Fliers Return to Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Complete with one small dog and 12 decorations, one of the largest group of airmen returned from overseas now is going through the process of checking out at the R.C.A.F. repatriation pool at nearby Rockcliffe air station, for leave and duty.

The dog was Tommy, property of F. L. A. C. Lawrence, D.F.C., of Brandon, Man., a night fighter pilot. His feat in getting the grey, curly-haired dog out of England was considered "something" by his comrades on the home voyage.

In all there were in the party six holders of the Distinguished Flying Cross, two of the Air Force Cross, three of the Distinguished Flying Medal and one of membership in the Order of the British Empire.

Two fighter pilots who worked for six months or more at Malta during the heat of Mediterranean operations were F. L. J. E. McElroy, D.F.C., of Kamloops, B.C.; and P. J. H. Ballantyne, D.F.M., of Toronto.

Holders of decorations included F. L. R. L. A. Smith, D.F.C., of Regina, who has shot down six enemy planes; P. O. S. J. Kernaghan, D.F.M., of Cartwright, Man., a coastal command pilot with four enemy planes to his credit; and F. L. G. J. Gow, M.B.E., of Lethbridge, Alta., who was honored for special technical work in North Africa.

Ceiling On Tariffs Urged By Claxton

NEW YORK (CP) — A ceiling on tariffs was advocated today by Brooke Claxton, Canadian Member of Parliament, as a means of ensuring postwar economic prosperity.

In a speech to the National Foreign Trade Convention, Claxton, parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister King in the latter's capacity as president of the Privy Council of Canada, said he was voicing his own views rather than those of the Canadian government.

To attain a "more rational international distribution of production" after the war, he urged a policy of "no ceilings on trade, a ceiling on all trade restrictions."

Find Singed Hair On de Marigny Following Burning of Oakes' Body

By E. V. W. JONES

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — A United States detective called to Nassau by the Duke of Windsor testified today he had found singed and curled hairs on Alfred de Marigny's hands, arms and face the night after Sir Harry Oakes was beaten to death by an attacker, who apparently tried to hide the crime by starting a fire.

Capt. Melchen of the Miami police told his story to the supreme court jury which is trying de Marigny for the murder of his father-in-law, whose fortune was one of the world's large ones.

Melchen said the accused man offered several different explanations of the burned hairs.

Melchen said de Marigny was unable to produce the shirt he told of wearing on the night of the slaying. He added that the defendant's other clothing, when shown to police, "was well pressed, unwrinkled and the creases in the trousers were unmarked."

He said he first questioned de Marigny after a colleague, Capt. James O. Barker of the Miami police, had begun to process fingerprints a bedroom in the upstairs bedroom at Westbourne, the Oakes estate, where Sir Harry was bludgeoned and burned.

At the time, Melchen testified, de Marigny declared he had not been upstairs for three years.

IDENTIFY FINGERPRINT

Barker had testified that a fingerprint on the screen was an impression of de Marigny's little right finger. The defence has started a line of attack apparently designed to show de Marigny might have had an opportunity after the crime to touch the screen.

Dr. William Yohannan Sayad, Palm Beach, Fla., eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, told the court de Marigny once threatened to "crock the head" of Sir Harry.

The threat, witness said, was made last spring after Sir Harry had told de Marigny to get out of a hospital room next to that of Marigny's wife, Nancy, "or I'll kick you out."

The defendant, still flashing a confident smile as his trial entered the second week, encountered the physician at the courtroom door after the testimony, patted him on the back and shook hands with him.

The doctor was the first witness of a week during which the prosecution will make its big effort to prove it was de Marigny who beat Sir Harry on the head last July, threw an inflammable liquid around the bedroom and ignited it to cause an explosion, which burned the body and bed.

The physician said Nancy, de Marigny's wife, entered the Good Samaritan Hospital at West Palm Beach last spring for an operation, and four days later de Marigny came to the hospital for the removal of his tonsils.

Cowichan Loggers Sign Agreement; Affects 1,000 Men

VANCOUVER (CP) — A full union agreement—the second in 48 hours for the International Woodworkers of America — is being signed today by union officials and the Lake Logging Co. Ltd., it was announced here by Nigel Morgan, I.W.A. international board member.

The agreement, recommended in a majority award handed down three weeks ago by the Harmon arbitration board, involves 1,000 men in eight camps of the company in the Lake Cowichan district of Vancouver Island.

It will go into effect immediately.

Morgan reported that at a special meeting of I.W.A. local 1-80 in Duncan Saturday night, authority was given the union's district officers in Vancouver authority to have the agreement prepared and executed immediately.

Saturday some 600 men ended their strike in eight Queen Charlotte Camps when the I.W.A. signed a union agreement with three logging operators.

Included in the Lake Logging agreement are clauses similar to those in the agreement with the Queen Charlotte Islands corporations. These include: Recognition of the union as the bargaining agency; and provision for grievance, safety and labor-management production committees.

There are more than 40 logging operations and sawmills on the mainland and Vancouver Island. The I.W.A. has been negotiating for agreements with a number of the larger firms.

In all cases the operators had refused to sign agreements; and the union officials were preparing to conform with the law by asking for arbitration boards to deal with every case.

This would have meant the provincial department of labor would have been faced with the task of setting up a large number of boards to deal with the cases.

The action of the three Queen Charlotte operators, who signed Saturday, however, set the pattern for things to come. Management of Lake Logging Co. Ltd., with large operations on Vancouver Island, agreed to a contract.

The union now will press for signed contracts with other operators.

Britain Considers Demobilization

LONDON (CP) — Demobilization of Britain's armed forces when the war is done has become a prime topic among servicemen, parliamentarians and the public. Latest proposal is a "points program."

Under this proposal, contained in the first interim report of the Conservative sub-committee on demobilization and resettlement, the "high scorers" would be first back.

If, for example, it was decided 15 per cent of the personnel of a unit could be demobilized, the records office would forward the names of those who had the highest score, calculated on a basis of so many points for service on or before certain dates, service overseas, steps of promotion, age group, marriage, number of children, employment immediately available, demand for personnel in trade or profession and interruption of education. There would be a subtraction of points for desirability of a man's retention in the service.

Yugoslav Groups Clash in Battle

LONDON (CP) — Rival Yugoslav forces of Gen. Josip (Tito) Broz and Gen. Draja Mihailovic have clashed in a bitter battle in the hills of Montenegro, Tito's free Yugoslav radio announced today as his Partisans continued to engage the Germans in other parts of war-torn Yugoslavia.

The fighting between Tito's Partisans and the forces of King Peter's war minister was said to be particularly heavy in the Matsevo and Mont Cakor areas where the radio declared, Mihailovic's Chetniks had joined the Germans.

An earlier communique, which announced the Partisans had stormed two German strongholds in western Bosnia and captured 2,000 Nazi officers and men, said the Nazis and Chetniks were attacking "without success" at Matsevo and "so far they have lost 300 killed."

Tito repeatedly has accused Mihailovic of aiding the Germans. A Reuters dispatch from Cairo quoted reports to the Yugoslav government as saying the whole estuary of Kotor, Adriatic port 130 miles south of Split and one of the best natural harbors in all Yugoslavia, was in the hands of Mihailovic's forces. Today's Partisan communique

Shipmates Recall Sir Dudley Pound

Memories of the late Sir Dudley Pound in the days when he was lieutenant aboard H.M.S. Grafton, flagship of the Pacific Fleet, at Esquimalt were recalled by shipmates last week as they assembled in the Naval Veterans' Branch to commemorate the anniversary of Trafalgar Day.

"He was a jolly good scout—as they all were," E. S. Michell, one of three who served under him, said. Others on the ship at that time were D. O'Brien and N. Sladen.

Sir Dudley, First Sea Lord, died the day before the celebration of Trafalgar Day.

The day was suitably remembered at the Naval Vets' function with remarks by A. Cownden, president; Lieut. O'Hara, R.C.N., who represented Capt. J. P. Kingscote; Father A. B. Wood, chaplain, and J. Wittcomb. Contributing to the entertainment, in addition to a five-piece orchestra, were Tom Obee, Bobby Lea, Joe Dobbie and Buster Brown.

BULGARIANS SEND TROOPS

ANKARA (AP) — Yugoslav reports to Turkey said today that Bulgaria, apparently yielding to German pressure, was moving troops into Yugoslavia, where guerrilla forces are fighting Nazi occupation forces.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Russia continues to be the crucial theatre in the war, with vast issues of both war and peace at stake—the one along the bloody Dnieper front and the other in the tranquil atmosphere (we hope) of the conference table in Moscow.

Because defeat of Hitler as quickly as possible means so much to us, the terrible conflict along the Dnieper may seem to be more important than the Moscow parley. I doubt whether it is, though. The Red offensive could bog down in the autumn deluge and mud without damage to the Allied cause other than a delay in smashing the Hitlerites, whereas a failure of the Big Three conference to lay the foundations of full co-operation might be so disastrous as to precipitate another world conflict.

The first task of conferees Eden, Hull and Molotov is to remove the distrust and suspicion which have been plaguing the three major powers. Until that is done there can be little progress in settling such complicated problems as postwar boundaries and the political complexion of European governments which now are in the melting pot. Unless it is done there's likely to be another war in our time.

Gracie Unpopular With Soldier Editor

ALGIERS (AP)—The British 8th Army's weekly newspaper, "The Crusader," devoted most of its front page Saturday to an open letter to Gracie Fields, declaring that "you and the rest of the top-liners" of the theatrical profession "have let the fighting soldier down."

The letter, signed by editor Sgt. D. H. Martin, complained that Miss Fields had "done the same as the few other tops (stars) who have paid us a flying visit," adding "you would have been a greater trouper if you had forgotten your contracts and commitments and stayed with us a little longer."

(Miss Fields recently visited the troops in England, Scotland, Africa and Sicily. Now in Santa Monica, Calif., she commented that "nobody was more sorry that I had to leave than myself.")

(The English comedienne said the tour was planned for only three weeks by Ensa (a British organization staging shows for the services) since she had to return to the United States for a tardy fulfillment of a radio commitment made months ago. "I have this radio series to finish and a picture to make, and will make no further commitments," she explained. "The one thing I want most is to get back to the boys; and I hope it will be some time in January.") people are fools who would seek for spiritual guidance outside the established churches.

I would point out that the fundamental truths have stood for more than 2,000 years of test, and that respect for fundamental truth in itself is by no means a virtue to be found in old-established (as against those which suggest a "new approach") organizations.

It is obvious that, had the date on your paper been 1543 instead of 1943, you might easily have made the following comment upon two charlatan alchemists convicted of obtaining funds for transmuting "base metals" into gold: "The conviction of these men goes to show that we should leave all such meddling alone, and that we should hold fast to the doctrines of Aristotle, whose ideas have stood the test of 2,000 years almost."

In other words, you would have tried to damn the upsurge of new knowledge because, in an age of doubt, a few unscrupulous men tried to exploit the uncertain minds of men.

The existence of North American religious racketeering is no argument for retreating into ancient forms, but rather for going ahead to recreate religion upon a basis of universal truth instead of dogma. That done, the charlatans will fade out of existence.

Letters to Editor

Correspondents are reminded to use one side of the paper only, to write legibly, and to keep their communications within a reasonable length. A short letter, with a point convincingly emphasized, has a better chance of publication than one with shoddy platitudes.

TRAFFIC LAWS
The letter that follows was sent to our police commission on Aug. 10 of this year and as it has failed to stir them to any real action, may I suggest that you publish the letter and throw on the said incompetents the spotlight of public opinion.

ALEXANDER PAGE.

"Who is responsible for instructing our police force that the law is to be rigidly enforced against the motorists at the Stop and Go signs but that the pedestrian may do as he pleases?"

"Thousands of pedestrians break this law every day yet a number of able-bodied policemen are wasted by being instructed to mark cars to gain for the city in fines hardly enough to pay for the said policemen's shoe polish."

"Is our police force employed only to enforce one or two laws against the motorists? Or is the police commission so lax in their duty that, as long as they are not bothered, they don't care who demonstrates their total incompetence?"

"Yours for equal enforcement of all by-laws,"

ALEXANDER PAGE.

It is a queer "logic" which would assert that because two founders of high-sounding cults have been convicted of unpleasant (not to say criminal) practices, then this all goes to prove that

In 20, 50 Or 100 Years?

ONE OF THE EXCHANGED PRISONERS just arrived from Japan, where he had lived for many years, tells of a conversation with a longtime Japanese officer acquaintance who said: "We Japanese have probably lost this time. But if we have lost this time, we shall win in 20 years, and if we lose in 20 years, we will win in 50, and if we lose in 50, we will win in 100." In other words, Japan is really betting that the postwar world after this war will be like the postwar world after the last war, marked now by high intentions and firm resolves, but presently afflicted by bickering and disunity which will give the aggressors an opportunity to recoup. We shall never have lasting security and peace until we have a continuing will to work for peace, and for the kind of world relations which insure it, as unrelentingly and patiently as Germany's Junkers and Japan's militarists are willing to work for conquest.

Famine In India

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS AND OTHER wire service reports on famine conditions in the Bengal province of India have been supplemented by a dispatch from the correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor at Calcutta. He cables that most of the victims of the famine are landless farm laborers, odd-job coolies and peasants in the rural areas who are too weak for long marches to the city, even to beg.

More than two-thirds of the vast population of India belong to the landless and coolie classes and to them famine is no new thing. They live scattered in 700,000 small villages. More than 70 per cent of the cultivable land is owned by a few absentee and hative landlords, and farming in general has not developed out of the feudal system. Few of the peasants have plots of land large enough to provide them with supplemental food. The peasant earnings average about eight cents a day, while the wages of village laborers average between two and six cents a day. Continuous debt and hunger have been the lot of these people. When crops are poor, they face famine and eviction. Today thousands are reported living on the pavements of Calcutta and in the open fields.

Wheat for relief is now on its way from Australia. Calcutta's Rotary Club has opened a soup kitchen where 1,000 persons a day receive a ration of two and a half pounds of onion and vegetable gruel. The American Red Cross is distributing milk to a limited number of children. However, altogether, only a fraction of the starving population is receiving food relief. The war has crowded the famine in India out of the news spotlights. Nonetheless, the plight of the starving there calls for whatever succor it may be possible to send through from the outside world.

The Cost Of Living Index

FROM THE OUTBREAK OF THE WAR up to August, 1943, the cost of living in Canada increased 18.3 per cent. To many who buy commodities in the retail markets this increase seems grossly underestimated since the price of round steak, for example, increased during that period by 58 per cent, that of stewing beef by 79 per cent and that of cheese by 70 per cent. Those who deduce from increases in the prices of individual commodities that prices have increased much faster than the index would indicate, do not fully understand the significance of an index.

An index is composed of a large number of commodities. Some of these commodities increase rapidly in price while others do not. The Canadian retail price index is composed of six groups of commodities as follows: Foods, which represent nearly 35 per cent of the total index; fuel and light, representing 5.7 per cent of the total index; rent, 17.8 per cent; clothing, 12.1 per cent; home furnishings and services, 8.9 per cent, and miscellaneous items, 20.9 per cent.

An analysis of the movement of prices of the various groups reveals that the movement has not been uniform. While food prices increased 34.1 per cent during the war, the cost of fuel and light increased only 14.5 per cent and that of clothing 20.5 per cent. The cost of rent increased only 7.4 per cent and that of miscellaneous items 6.8 per cent. Home furnishings and services rose 16.8 per cent during the war. When these figures are combined and properly weighed on the basis of their importance, it is found that the total cost of living index in Canada has actually increased only 18.3 per cent.

Substantial as this increase is, it is small as compared with the increase in the cost of living which has taken place in a number of other countries such as the United States and Great Britain. The reasons for the relatively small increase of commodity prices in Canada are the effective measures which have been taken by the Canadian government. These dealt not merely with actual control over prices but also with siphoning off excess purchasing power in the hands of the people.

Short of Justice

MERE LIFTING BY THE FEDERAL government of the ban imposed in 1940 on the Ukrainian Labor-Farmer Temple Association does not set everything right. Trouble is arising from the fact that after imposing the ban, the government not only seized the 108 community halls and equipment owned by the association across Canada, but proceeded to sell them for a fraction of their worth, often to opposing Ukrainian groups. For example, the Ukrainian hall on Bathurst Street, Toronto, cost around $100,000 and represented years of hard-earned savings of 6,000 Ukrainians in that city; the government calmly sold it to another group for $3,250. The members of the banned organizations were not rated as aliens, yet in the matter of their property during the time their organizations were under a temporary ban, they were given less consideration than enemy aliens. Property of enemy aliens such as Germans and Japanese is held in trust by the Custodian of Alien Properties for later action.

The Toronto Star calls the whole proceeding "outrageous." The Ottawa Journal, referring to the treatment accorded the Ukrainians as well as the Jehovah's Witnesses, from whom the ban is also now lifted, says: "It is a wrong thing when organizations are moved against as organizations persecuted for beliefs; that is the thing we fight against."

The Minister of Justice is being called on to acknowledge courageously the mistake the government of Canada has made in dealing with the property of the Ukrainian organizations and to make appropriate restitution. With the lifting of the ban, the seized property should properly be restored, or restitution to the amount of its full value made. Anything else stops far short of ordinary justice.

WHILE HUMAN BEINGS ARE WAR-ring and slaughtering one another, the seals along this coast are getting a break. Not a single fur seal was taken in British Columbia waters during the last two years, although before that hundreds were killed every year. In 1940, for instance, 576 were killed as they made their migratory way along the coast toward the Pribilof Island rookeries.

The seals went safely north during the last two years because the Indians of this province are the only Canadians permitted by international agreement to hunt these animals in the waters of the north Pacific and the Indian hunters have either enlisted or become so busy as a result of wartime's increased employment opportunities that they have no time for sealing.

Although numbers of seals were taken off British Columbia every year in prewar days, the bulk of the annual kill was made at the Pribilof Islands by hunters employed by the United States government. After 1911, under international treaty, pelagic sealing, or the hunting of fur seals at sea, which was operated as a big industry from this port of Victoria, was forbidden in the treaty waters, except to Indians, Aleuts or other aborigines dwelling on the coasts of the adjacent areas. At the Pribilof rookeries, where the herds go ashore, the killing has been done by the U.S. government sealers and a specified percentage of each year's take of pelts handed over to Canada by Washington. That old treaty has now been replaced by a provisional agreement between Canada and the United States which is of much the same effect as the treaty, but entitles the Dominion to an increased share of skins. The Japs have coveted our valuable north Pacific seal fisheries, but since they were driven from their near-Alaska outposts at the end of this last summer, their threat to one of this coast's valuable resources has been removed.

It ought to be easy to track Mussolini down by the trail of sawdust oozing from him.

Just a reminder that this is the final week for sending Christmas parcels to the boys and girls in the war zones overseas.

"If the Big Three—Russia, the United States and Britain—now begin grabbing among themselves," said one of the globe-circling U.S. senators on his return to Washington, "we might just as well get ready for the next war right away." The only alternative is for these three giants to work out their future by co-operation and collective security. Nothing would seem to be more obvious.

The Canadian Aid to Russia Fund continues to roll on. The promotion campaign ended with the closing of the drive last February. However, contributions from all parts of Canada still flow into Toronto headquarters. The sustained support of the fund is made the more striking because there was never any canvassing in connection with the campaign. The total has now passed $3,126,000 and is growing daily. The latest list includes $200 from National War Services Fund of Alberni district.

The program of the Bloc Populaire, the racist party which has been in the ascendant in Quebec, is summarized by the Montreal Gazette from current speeches of its leader, Maxime Raymond, as follows: "Abandonment of the 'old servile ties' linking Canada with the Parliament at Westminster or other Imperial institutions, adoption of a national flag and a national anthem, nomination of a Canadian as Governor-General, suppression of appeals to the Privy Council, adaptation of a constitution to suit Canada's status as a sovereign state, the entry of Canada into the Pan-American Union, real autonomy for all provinces, and recognition of equal rights for English and French-speaking groups."

Loose Ends

NOW—BASIC CHINESE

INTERNATIONAL co-operation is one of the chief factors in postwar planning and the University of Toronto takes a practical view of the situation. The university offers this year for the first time to undergraduates in Canada, a course in basic Chinese language.

A knowledge of the Chinese language, Rt. Rev. W. C. White, head of the Toronto Department of Chinese studies, believes, gives an insight into the psychology of the Chinese mind—and he says international co-operation must be based on understanding. Bishop White's own knowledge of China dates back to 1897 in Fuhkien, when he began a missionary career that ended only in 1934. In 1909 he was consecrated Bishop of Honan, Chinese diocese of the Church of England in Canada, a post he held for 25 years.

Not all Bishop White's students are seeking a purely cultural background. A number enrolled in Chinese language are planning missionary careers in China—Constance Williston of Toronto, for instance, is registered in the Missionary Training Course, and Mabel Stubbs, Hilliardton, Ont., is a graduate of the Toronto Bible College. Other students feel they require a linguistic background before proceeding with a detailed study of Chinese art.

Forty students in all have enrolled in courses in Chinese in routine classes and night school. The elementary classes meet under the tutelage of Mrs. H. G. Watts, herself recently returned from the Orient.

TEACHES MANDARIN

CHINESE HAS NO relation to occidental languages," Mrs. Watts told Kathryn O'Neill of the Canadian Press, "but its logical grammatical construction is simple for the purpose of reading and writing." It is more difficult to speak because its four tones give each inflection a different meaning.

Mrs. Watts teaches her students the Mandarin dialect—1,000 characters of it. Each character, she explained, has a radical or root, surrounded by a frill of little dots and dashes, which imparts distinctive meaning. The radicals, relatively few in number, are common to a great many characters, and form the key to the language in a Chinese dictionary.

It isn't necessary for Mrs. Watts to use a dictionary herself to speak Chinese—or Japanese either. She and her husband, field secretary for the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada, returned only in 1940 from 20 years in the Orient.

For six years in the Kai-Feng Mission in Honan, China, Mrs. Watts worked under Bishop White—again her co-worker in the Chinese Studies Department in Toronto. There followed for the Watts' 13 years in Japan concluded shortly before Japanese entry into the war.

Chinese studies, Mrs. Watts and Bishop White believe, have definite possibilities for Canadians. After all, Mrs. Watts remarked, how can one understand one's neighbor if one can literally not speak his language? And Canada and China are both liable to be new members of the great power coterie in postwar politics.

ELEMENTARY RE-EDUCATION

I have but little time for those Who talk such fearful tosh Of our prolonged and postwar woes In tiding up the Boche. Methinks the Boche, left high and dry Upon his painful shelf, Will show a talent, by and by, For tidying up himself.

Or even now the process starts; Re-education's rod Is seen when Mr. Frick departs And Adolf's awkward squad— That damned, disgruntled home front mob, Distrusted by and large— Is handed over as his job To Heinrich Himmler's charge.

Re-education? See it planned, Though not as yet complete, With eye-wash from the High Command, Machine-guns in the street. Gone are the last, sad shreds of hope, As Germans know full well, When Dittmar dishes up the dope And Himmler hands out hell. —Lucio, in Manchester Guardian.

WHY READ SHAKESPEARE

From Ottawa Journal
The San Francisco Argonaut reports an announcement by the State Board of Education in California "that it means to change the requirements of teachers in English, so that the pupils will no longer be bothered with British authors, those being eliminated and their places taken by American literature and an appreciation of motion pictures and radio."

"Imagine," said a San Francisco newspaper commenting on this scholastic policy, "a high school senior permitted to graduate without knowledge of Shakespeare, Chaucer, Milton, Scott or Tennyson, but with a high rating in the screen art of Ginger Rogers and the radio appeal of Jack Benny!"

The Argonaut itself views the situation with deep concern. Most of what has been called progress in American life, it says, in the past 70 or 80 years, "has been nothing but an accelerating pace in vulgarization," and it finds this new order in perfect harmony with that trend. "Millions of young Americans," it adds, "have come to believe, with their elders, that business is an end, and even the only end, of life. . . . The two chief ends of life should be creation and contemplation."

But perhaps the most appropriate comment comes from Elbert Hubbard, quoted by the Argonaut:

"It is better to keep your mouth shut, and be thought a fool, than to open it and remove all doubt." We can let it go at that.

Vansittart Fable

LONDON

By SCOTT YOUNG

FOR more than two years, Lord Vansittart, once one of the most powerful men in British affairs, has been preaching the credo of what has become known as "Vansittartism." He is still preaching it, and at the same time attempting to destroy a "fable."

The "fable," as Lord Vansittart describes it, is that Vansittartism advocates the extermination of the German people. It has grown, he says, "as the result of German propaganda repeated by a certain number of British stooges."

Vansittartism, summed up in his own words, is this: "I want the total defeat of Germany, the destruction of German militarism, whether spiritual or material, and an inter-Allied occupation of Germany long enough to get education restarted on an unassailable basis."

That is the message he has propounded since he resigned as chief diplomatic adviser to the government in June, 1941, a position he held from 1938. He was Permanent Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs from 1930 to 1933, the years of Germany's renaissance as a military power.

As a civil servant he could only watch the German threat grow and remain silent from the public, and his answer to those who asked why he didn't resign sooner to voice his fears was that Prime Minister Churchill, not then in office, urged him "to stick it out."

But his resignation in 1941 freed his voice to trumpet the message of Vansittartism. And just as often as he delivered the message, he has found it necessary to make clear that he does not preach the extermination of all Germans.

In his most recent speech at Manchester, he said: "Most of my adversaries say I believe that all Germans are Nazis. Nothing could be further from the truth. My point is that all Germans are not Nazis, and that a great many of them were thinking and doing what they are doing now."

"What's holding you back brother?"

THE fellows who are in there pitching at the Axis didn't need any formal invitation to race into this scrap... and they're beginning to wonder what happened to you. Those fellows are in the thick of things... smooth-working teams of fighters... each man doing his part.

Besides real he-man action and adventure, you'll get skilled technical training and experience that employers will rate highly after the war.

If you really want to pull your fair share, and if you're fit, there's not a thing in the world to hold you back. You can go aircrew today. You can win your wings in a few short months under the guidance of veteran airmen. What about it, brother?

Keep Close Behind Him ... All the Way!

AMONG the sailors, soldiers, and air-men now at grips with the enemy is someone you know... perhaps someone very dear—perhaps just "the boy who lived down the street."

Your heart is with him, no doubt. He needs more than that! His power to speed the victory—his very life, in fact—depends on the things that only the money of the people at home can supply.

Unless you and people like you are behind him with an abundance of everything he needs, his valour cannot prevail. Long and heavy fighting is ahead of him. His need of you will increase rather than diminish. Now is the time for your greatest effort as well as his.

That is why you should now determine to buy more bonds in this 5th Victory Loan than ever before seemed possible. Do not abandon him in the crucial hour—keep close behind him all the way.

1943 Salon Features Modern Camera Art

From Kalamazoo and Babylon and all points in between have come prints of an exceptionally high quality to the truly international Third Annual Victoria Salon of Photography, now open to the public in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel.

With each succeeding year the Victoria salon has attracted more eminent photographers from all over Canada and the United States. Represented are many of the topmost artists of this medium, names which are bywords to the photographic initiate.

Five local contributors had their work hung after passing rigid and discriminating selection by the judges who were H. G. Cox, New Westminster, John Henders, F.R.P.S., Vancouver, and Chao-Chen Yang, P.S.A., Seattle. Ken McAllister had two works accepted, a modern print of exceptional originality named "Mence," and a clever impressionistic study "Fantasy." Irvine Dawson, W. H. Squires, Henry Whittaker and St. Woods each showed one print.

Modern photography is no longer limited to black-and-white alone. Sepia is becoming a more and more popular medium, several outstanding ones being "The Waltons," a fishing group, "Flight North" with excellent composition of five ducks against the sky, and "Psyche" by Vincent Abbott, one of the few nude studies in this year's display.

Blue-tinted pictures also have their place, the entry by Rudolf Tietjens of a grouping of Wedgwood being so realistic that one felt like taking off the lid of the powder box and looking inside. The well-known photographer-artist, Chao-Chen Yang, used this blue finish to give an eerie atmosphere to "Solitude," a night scene or a street corner with lambent rays emanating through the fog. Even pink was used in "Born to Blush," a flower study by L. Saunders, a accomplished through the use of combined gold-tone and sepia.

One end of the display is dedicated entirely to modern prints, and among this group the most original in thought and execution are to be found. Here, for instance, is John Brooks' "Winter Afternoon," modern to the point of being practically cubist, employing vertical lines and three flat shades only to give a feeling of a chill severity.

Masks of a Dutch girl and boy hung against Venetian blinds characterizes "Romance on a Wall," a whimsical study by Evelyn Frith of Vancouver, while again proving that women have an important place in the photographic arts is the beautifully finished "Ruffled Petals," by Jean Drabert.

High-key pictures like the subtle symbolic study by Rowena Frith showing a tiger lily and a rose in a woman's hand, and sombre pictures, amusing ones and serious ones based on a dramatic theme like "Christmas in Warsaw," are all to be found among the 200 prints on exhibition.

Animals, a favorite subject always with pictorialists, were well portrayed, with more ingenuity and simplicity than in previous exhibitions. Especially notable in this group were "Skipper," by J. Balkin, and "Secrets," by H. R. Fisher. Michael Rolis unique interpretation is apparent in "Tiger," in which the stripes of the animal is echoed in the ripple of moonlight waters.

All in all, the photographic salon excels previous standards. It is open to the public till Sunday, Oct. 31.

Victoria's centenary is being commemorated by the award of a silver thunderbird to 15 contributors displaying the best photographic examples for prints of exceptional merit.

Dawson Creek Pupils Raise $205 for Milk

A donation of $205.68 raised by 24 school children at Dawson Creek, in northern B.C., has been received by the Victoria Kinsmen Club for the Milk for Britain Fund.

were A. W. Millar, F. C. Armstrong, L. W. Campbell, N. Hemmingsen, H. Barnes and S. F. Crandell. Thompson Funeral Home had charge of arrangements.

In the letter accompanying the donation, Carl Torio, Grade 8, said, "Our teacher thinks that you may like to know how we raised this money. There are 24 pupils attending this school. On Jan. 18, 1943, we began working on a doll's house which took us almost until the end of our summer term. We built and furnished it, working in recesses, dinner hours, handwork periods and before school. "This we have just raffled. We hope that this will buy lots of milk for the British children."

W.D.'s in Women's Victory Parade

Led by ASO. N. I. Kains, women in the air force blue of the R.C. A.F. (W.D.) formed one of the most important links in the Women's Day parade in downtown Victoria Saturday.

Smart and straight as lances, the flight was preceded by a detachment of khaki-clad C.W. A.C.'s, of whom Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., said in her commentary, "Planned and executed wholly on democratic lines, 13,000 strong, these women are taking over important jobs and releasing many thousands of men for duty."

Parading in support of the Fifth Victory Loan, the 500 women taking part marched to the pulse-quickening lilt of the Victoria Girls' Highland Pipe Band, under Miss Nellie Small.

Besides contributing the music, the pipers also added brilliant touch of color with kilt and tartan.

Grey and navy uniforms of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, and Women's Ambulance Corps, led by Mrs. E. J. Harwood, and Miss E. Dunn, respectively, alternated with the unofficial but just as honorable uniform of shipyard workers—the V.M.D. contingent in white overalls and helmets, led by Miss Gladys Cook; and Yarrow's, under Miss Anne Ficzyc.

Women of the I.O.D.E., who give unstintingly of their time for service work, were also represented by Mrs. A. C. Phipps, municipal regent, and her followers.

In front of the View Street reviewing stand, each unit was heralded by a flourish from the Garrison Band under Bandmaster G. E. Gower, and the leader presented to Mayor Andrew McGavin and National War Finance officials, among whom were J. W. Spencer, divisional chairman; F. E. Winslow, vice-chairman; Denis Hagar, Victoria unit organizer, and Harold Henderson, of special names committee.

Red Cross Corps under Mrs. E. Oldaker's leadership was followed by St. John Ambulance cadets, "teen-age girls who were joined by a dozen pretty young Miss Canadas in their familiar red-and-white costumes.

Gnr. Charles Hovey sang "Land of Hope and Glory" at the close of the ceremony.

Why VICKS VapoRub Is So Good For Relieving Miseries of Childrens Colds

More than two generations ago—in grandmother's day—mothers first discovered Vicks VapoRub. Today it is the most widely used home-remedy for relieving miseries of children's colds. And here is the reason...

The moment you rub VapoRub on the throat, chest and back at bedtime it starts to work two ways at once—and keeps on working for hours—to ease coughing spasms, help clear congestion in cold-clogged upper breathing passages, relieve muscular soreness or tightness. It promotes restful sleep. Often most of the misery of the cold is gone by morning! That's why VapoRub is so good to use when colds strike. Try it!

Beethoven Replaces Benny Goodman As 'Vic' Collegians Turn Serious

By KAY McINTYRE

The 1943-4 college student is different—and this goes for both male and female.

Professor E. S. Farr, principal, and three of his leading students today told of the changes war has brought to Victoria College.

Of the 192 students enrolled Prof. Farr said: "They are a finer and more courteous lot than we have ever had before. Heavier losses in the war have brought a greater feeling of responsibility to the students."

Donald Holmes, president; Mildred Edmonds, secretary, and Maurice de St. Jorre, treasurer of the Students' Council, all nodded assent.

"Prewar students would be amazed at the average conversation up here nowadays," Donald said. "Even in the last year the subjects discussed have become more serious."

"There were still a few jive fans last year," said the Students' Council treasurer, "and they spoke a language all their own, but that, too, is a thing of the past."

"It's amazing," he went on, "how attendance has soared in the music appreciation classes. Two years ago they say the members of the Hot Records Society used to beat their brains out at their sessions. Now Bach and Beethoven seem to be taking the place of Benny Goodman. And for dances the slow, dreamy stuff is popular."

With compulsory military training part of the syllabus for the boys, most of whom have received deferments providing they keep up a certain standard, a busy social life is out. College functions, all except the Christmas dance, now informal affairs, are the only ones the students have time for. Outside activities are shunned altogether.

"You have no idea the feeling of security that miniature arsenal of the C.O.T.C. gives me," said Professor Farr, a twinkle in his eye.

PARADES REPLACE AUTOS

For the first time students no longer take compulsory training with reserve army regiments in Victoria but, instead, have their own unit, C.O.T.C. J Company, commanded by Sgt. Maj. Robert Fink, referred to by the boys "as a real battle-trained soldier from the active army," stationed at the college. In the basement is the arsenal mentioned by Principal Farr, a locked room stocked with Bren guns, Sten guns, mortars, rifles, gas masks, gas equipment, uniforms, in fact all the equipment needed to train a C.O.T.C. unit.

Gone from the notice board in the lower hall are the ads for used cars and in their place are parade orders.

For air-minded students, this year has seen the establishment of University Air Training Corps No. 23 which has also been allotted a special room for equipment. Previously the boys trained with the Air Cadets. Both army and air parades take six hours each week and are held during the day in order that they won't interfere with studies.

FOR GIRLS, TOO

Mildred Edmonds told of compulsory training for the girls, too, to which they must devote two hours each week. Half of this is taken up with exercises under Barbara Hinton, while the other hour is being organized in war work.

Another development new this year is the reorganization of the student constitution under Donald Holmes, thereby allotting more responsibility to the students. Now each member of the council has an organization under him which meets regularly, members of which are responsible for the activities of each and every student club or activity. In this way activities are governed by a large number of students instead of the former small Students' Council.

Although enrollment is down 66 students under last year, it hasn't decreased as much as expected. According to Dorothy Cruikshank, assistant registrar, this is due to the fact that students are now able to earn all the money needed to carry them through during summer vacation.

Loan Objective Within Sight If Present Pace Held

OTTAWA (CP) — Aimed at $1,200,000,000, Canada's Fifth Victory loan went into its second week today with more than $400,000,000 on the books from six days of campaigning.

National headquarters announced that subscriptions from the first full week canvass totaled $417,144,200, compared with $372,544,900 at the same stage of the Fourth Loan, which had an objective of $1,100,000,000. Total subscriptions this time amounted to $33,575, against $386,994 in the last loan.

An official statement said the loan's objective will be reached and perhaps passed if the pace set during the past week can be maintained for the next weeks, both in the effort of the workers and the response of the public.

For the first week, the armed services reported a combined grand total of $17,040,400, approximately 65 per cent of their total for the whole of the fourth campaign. The army reported subscriptions of $7,001,850, the R.C.A.F. $7,763,200 and the navy $2,275,350.

The armed forces continue to lead all 10 divisions in the British, Columbia and Yukon area. The air force has 89 per cent of quota, the navy 78 and the army 65.

Naval reserve divisions across Canada have raised $382,500 against a quota of $350,000, and the Newfoundland command is well past its goal of $150,000.

The navy's Atlantic Command at the week-end was $2,000 past its original objective of $1,300,000 and aiming at a revised quota of $1,400,000. Men of the Pacific Command subscribed $287,000 of their $375,000 objective.

Fuel Officer Advises On Pre-Paid Orders

During the past few months a number of people have adopted the practice of prepaying wood fuel orders, and now find they are not able to get delivery of the fuel nor get their money refunded by the dealer, W. O. McPherson, Victoria wood fuel officer, with the Department of Munitions and Supply, said today.

"The majority of wood fuel dealers do not take prepaid orders for more than a month ahead of their deliveries," he said. "However, a few dealers seem to have taken prepaid orders far in excess of a reasonable delivery date. This practice leaves the public concerned with neither the fuel nor the money with which to look elsewhere for their fuel needs."

"I would strongly advise the wood fuel buying public that if they feel they must prepay their orders, to take the necessary precaution to investigate their dealer and to have a reasonable maximum delivery date placed on the receipt they get from the dealer at the time they prepay their order."

"Arrangements have been completed to bring sufficient wood fuel into Victoria to meet any anticipated emergency which may arise this coming winter."

Kipling Society will meet Tuesday, in the clubroom, 301 Union Building, at 8.

W.A. to the R.C.A.M.C. will meet at Y.W.C.A. Tuesday at 2.30.

Wholesalers Get Set For Hallowe'en

Pumpkins and apples and Hallowe'en squash, ready to deck tables and party rooms over the Hallowe'en week-end, have arrived down Lower Yates Street, one wholesaler said today.

Rome Beauties, Winter Bananas, Jonathans, Grimes Golden, Delicious and McIntosh Reds, are the varieties of Okanagan apples available, with McIntosh Reds tops in demand. There are few local apples, owing to crop failures.

Pumpkins enjoy a slight up-trend in trade around Hallowe'en time and the small Table Queen squash are proving more popular each year, the wholesaler said. Quality is good and price reasonable.

Potatoes are selling at lower than the price ceiling today and are considered one of the market's best bets. Local Netted Gems dropped $4 on the ton, Saturday, according to wholesalers. California head lettuce is coming on the market and local hot-house tomatoes are available.

Placing of a percentage ceiling on lemons and grapefruit will bring a dozen of average-size lemons to approximately 38 cents a dozen, where a dozen formerly cost between 40 and 45 cents. There is no grapefruit on the market at the present time. Pomogranates are arriving on the market from the United States, but the demand here is not large.

Hearty and Appetizing

Potatoes stretch meat and still give the kind of meal men like

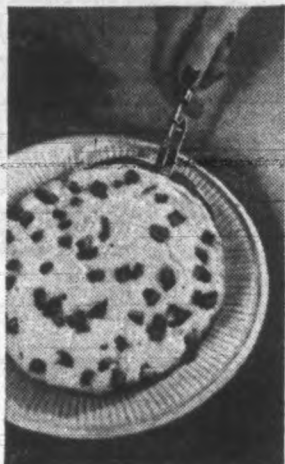

When you get down to brass tacks meat-and-potatoes is still the favourite meal of most men. Of course roast beef and roast potatoes is not a meal we can serve frequently these days, but there are other meat-and-potato meals, delicious in flavour and thrifty in ration coupons.

POTATO BURGERS

½ pound ground meat
2 medium-sized potatoes
1 tsp. salt
1 egg, slightly beaten
Grated onion to taste

Grate the raw potatoes (about 1½ cups). Mix ground meat, potatoes, grated onion, salt and egg. Shape into 4 large or 8 medium-sized patties. Pan-fry slowly for 15 minutes or until well browned.

MEAT 'N POTATO OMELETTE

½ cup chopped left-over meat
1 cup left-over mashed potatoes
2 tbsps. milk
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
4 eggs
2 tbsps. butter or shortening

Separate eggs. Beat yolks thoroughly. Combine with potatoes, milk, salt and baking powder. When well mixed fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into pan in which fat has melted. Sprinkle chopped meat over top. Cook slowly over low heat until set.

88 Lose Lives As Tankers Collide

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Two blacked-out tankers collided off the Florida coast in the darkness last Wednesday night and 88 men died in the flames which spread from the explosion of one of the vessels laden with thousands of gallons of aviation gasoline.

The navy department permitted announcement of the disaster at the week-end after investigating salvage possibilities.

Twenty-eight merchant crewmen and members of navy gun crews were saved, most of them leaping overboard as the flames whipped over the decks and spread out over the water.

Mayor McGavin Seeks 8th Term; List Of Candidates Grows

Mayor Andrew McGavin has made his anticipated announcement that he would stand for re-election for an eighth term. More candidates entered the civic election field, one in the aldermanic division.

Trustee F. G. Mulliner, chairman of the School Board, has confirmed earlier indications he would seek return.

The mayor's statement put three in the field for the post of chief magistrate. Already entered were Ald. P. E. George and Dr. G. A. B. Hall, school trustee. Latest entry in the council field is Earl Pollock, Montrose Avenue, managing director of the Pioneer Fruit Company. He will seek the one-year seat on the council for which Mrs. A. S. Christie, school trustee, is also standing. Mr. Pollock said he would announce his platform at a later date.

Trustee Mulliner's statement today put all four incumbents in the field for re-election to the school board. Others seeking return are Trustees W. A. Bayliss, H. E. Douglas and C. M. Parrott. Miss Isla Tuck, retired school trustee, has been nominated by the University Women's Club to contest a seat and A. W. Trevett is mentioned as a likely aspirant for the one-year term arising from the resignation of Dr. Hall.

MAYOR'S STATEMENT

In a statement covering his decision to seek an eighth term, and explaining his policy on tax reduction, Mayor McGavin said: "Every government in the world has pleaded for curtailed expenditures on everything beyond absolute necessities, and this applied to all governing bodies as well as individuals.

"Despite the fact that work is plentiful, the financial calls upon our people have been heavy. The government of our Dominion is constantly appealing for the investment of every spare dollar in Victory Bonds or War Savings Certificates, and I have advocated the same policy so far as the city is concerned.

"Every dollar we have had to spare has been invested in War Bonds, and we have a nice nest egg which can be set off against any bank loan we may have.

"Any city services which are now being neglected means that more work when the war is over. Work will be needed, and we will then be able to get materials and equipment of better quality and at no higher prices than now in effect.

"To those who are not fully acquainted with the business of the city, I might tell them that I intend giving a review of civic affairs over the radio in the near future, which will give a complete picture of civic business for the last 12 months, and my record of the last seven years."

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy reports in its 205th casualty list of the war that Stoker 1st Class (M) Oliver Baker Hazle, V-41401, R.C.N.V.R., of Assiniboia, Sask., has died of wounds suffered in action in Italy last Sept. 1.

His next-of-kin was given as his mother, Mrs. Mildred Hazle of Assiniboia.

City Men Get Wings Together

Derek C. R. Horne, left, and Arthur B. Elworthy, both of whom have been commissioned as pilot officers in the R.C.A.F. after graduating from No. 19 S.F.T.S., Vulcan, Alta. PO. Horne is the son of Mrs. W. H. Horne, 1527 Clive Road. He served in the Canadian Scottish overseas for 18 months before returning to remuster in the R.C.A.F. PO. Elworthy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Elworthy, 914 St. Charles Street, and was employed by the Straits Towing Co. before enlisting. Both of the fliers attended public and high schools here.

CBC Board Expects To Make Changes

OTTAWA (CP)—Possible "re-organizational changes" were considered by the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation at meetings here Friday and Saturday and the board's recommendation to Dr. James S. Thomson, former general manager, is being delayed, an official announcement said Saturday.

There was no indication today of what changes were being considered, but they were believed to have to do with the board's personnel and direction.

There was a full attendance of the board under the chairmanship of Rene Morin of Montreal and the question of a new general manager occupied most Saturday.

Dr. Thomson was given leave, at the September meeting, to retire immediately as general manager to resume his duties as president of the University of Saskatchewan, from which he had a year's leave of absence.

Hundreds in India Dying of Cholera

NEW DELHI (CP)—Cholera, spreading rapidly through parts of famine-ridden India, claimed 379 lives during September in the Jessoje district alone northeast of Calcutta and killed 456 others during the first 10 days of October.

Calcutta hospitals carted away 81 bodies of starvation victims Friday while admitting 188 new starvation cases, and scores of other bodies were picked up in the streets.

The Sunday Statesman, seeing little hope of immediate relief, made this observation: "With starving people moving desperately from village to village in search of food, and famished, disease-stricken wretches pouring into the cities and towns, Bengal is entering the most critical phase of her misery."

The announcement that Viscount Wavell, Viceroy of India, would visit Bengal soon aroused hope he would slash red tape to combine India's civil and military resources to combat the situation.

Canadian Repatriates Reach Leith, Scotland

LONDON (CP)—Several thousand repatriated war prisoners, mostly Britons, but including some 50 Canadians and a handful of Australians and U.S. citizens, returning to Britain for the first time in three years, came ashore at Leith, Scotland, today from the liners Empress of Russia and Drottningholm.

The first man to step ashore was a padre. His right sleeve was empty and as he came gravely up the gangplank his left arm rose and, fell in smart salute to a woman provost.

The faces of those returning were thin and white, but as they filed across the gangway their expressions brightened and they smiled as thundering cheers came from those on shore. One enlisted man marched with a bass viol on his back.

The third exchange ship, the Atlantic, was due at a port in northwest Britain tonight. All three ships carry some civilian personnel in addition to the wounded and sick veterans.

2-Way Raids By Allied Planes Harass Germany

By ROBERT STURDEVANT

LONDON (AP)—Allied bombers, striking from both north and south, bombed France, Austria and Hungary Sunday as new forces were prepared for long-range penetrations, perhaps to Berlin and beyond.

Twin-engine, extra-long-range U.S. fighters, returning to Britain from north Africa, made their debut as escorts while other U.S. long-range fighters, which previously had escorted heavy bombers, flew cover for American medium bombers attacking France.

R.A.F. Mosquitoes bombed targets in the Ruhr and Rhineland Sunday night. A brief Air Ministry communique which announced the raids gave no details of the overnight operations, which also included mine-laying in enemy waters. All planes were said to have returned safely.

Nazi fighter bases at Beauvais-Nivillers and Saint Andre de l'Eure and the bomber base at Montdidier were attacked by the U.S. medium bombers, while other U.S. long-range fighters and R.A.F. Spitfires and Typhoons carried out supporting sweeps with the loss of one Spitfire. Ten enemy planes were brought down.

EVERY PLANE HIT

A force of R.A.F. Mitchells, Whirlwinds and Typhoons swept into Cherbourg harbor at wave-top height through a hail of anti-aircraft fire that hit every plane. They bombed a medium-sized ship, setting it afire.

The Germans resumed their propaganda raids early Sunday night, dropping high explosives and fire bombs on some places in East Anglia.

The Paris radio said the recent attacks on Britain were a "prelude to something sinister and hitherto unknown." It said the "regularity of the raids which, at the present stage, are purely experimental, hints the beginning of the reprisals (for the bombing of Germany) are not far off."

POUND VIENNA

Meanwhile, up from the Mediterranean came Allied four-engine bombers to sweep the Vienna area and Styria district of Austria, the German radio said, and later more big formations crossed Hungary's south-west border to bomb Trans-Danubia.

Berlin radio, hinting at the start of a crunching two-way Allied aerial squeeze on Germany, said the big U.S. planes were based in Italy.

L. A. Campbell Dies

CALGARY (CP)—L. A. Campbell, 52, assistant city clerk since 1925, died in a hospital Sunday of a heart ailment. He joined the city clerk's office in July, 1913, shortly after coming to Canada from his home in Dunbarton, Scotland. When the Calgary ration board was organized early this year, Mr. Campbell took on the added duties of voluntary secretary and was largely responsible for organizing the distribution of ration books No. 1 and 2.

YOU just can't get ahead of a gang of teen-agers, Saturday morning Barney Olson, owner of the Willows Arena, figured he was going to get out to the ice rink well ahead of the first group of youngsters for the minor hockey classes. He just about stayed awake all night so as to hit the breakfast table at 6 a.m. Arriving at the arena at 6:45 he could hardly believe his eyes when there was a long line-up of youngsters waiting to gain admittance. Rather than leave the boys out in the cold Olson allowed them on the ice at 7.

"There were youngsters there from all over Greater Victoria and some of them must have left home around 5 in the morning to get to the Willows so early," Olson said. "One group arrived at the rink at 8 and they were all out of breath from pushing their bikes 12 miles in from Saanich. On learning the work-outs had started they were just about heartbroken but their faces brightened on being told their particular classes would not get started until 8:30 and they had missed nothing."

Such enthusiasm certainly indicates the efforts of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association are appreciated by Victoria's hockey-minded youngsters. They really have been bitten by the ice bug and it is up to those in charge to take full advantage of the possibilities offered. They will do so, providing the citizens of this city

Teeworth Wins Handicap

TORONTO (CP) — With a characteristic closing rush, Ned Northwood's Teeworth charged down Dufferin Park's short straightaway, Saturday, to win the Bunt Lawless Handicap in a photo finish from Cosgrave Stable's Muchy, for her 11th victory of the season, and her fourth in seven starts since shipping to eastern Canada this fall.

The bay mare by Papworth, out of Tee Hee, covered the mile and three-eighths in 1:25 4-5, and paid $4.50, $3.55 and $2.65. Appas Tappas, coupled in the wagering with Muchy, was third.

Teeworth, which won the Durham Handicap and several other important races here, will be shipped to winter quarters near Calgary shortly, but will be raced in Ontario next year. Northwood said "never once have I started Teeworth but what she brought me money, even if it was only for fourth."

SUMMERS THROWN

Teeworth's performance shared interest with the Dufferin jockey back them up with the necessary financial support.

All efforts of the Pat Bay Flyers to assure themselves of topnotch basketball competition this season seem to have fallen through. The Canadian champions have been refused admission to the mainland league and will have to be satisfied with whatever competition is offered here. We were informed some days ago the Flyers intended to play on the mainland but their plans were knocked into a cocked hat by the mainland league's action. Reason given for the refusal was the heavy traveling expenses for the Vancouver team to appear at Pat Bay, where the receipts are zero. So it looks as if the Flyers may suffer from the same situation that marked the recent lacrosse campaign of the airmen.

Come word from Vancouver that the Forum may be ready for hockey as early as Dec. 2. Seems the army engineers are really making every effort to have the big ice plant ready in record time. Reopening of the Forum will certainly inject new interest into the Pacific Coast Hockey Association as it will mean Vancouver fans will not have to travel all the way to New Westminster to view their favorite winter sport. Gas rationing and limited transportation facilities made traveling to the Fraser River town somewhat of a hardship. With hockey in the own backyard Vancouver followers are certain to give the games plenty of support.

Notre Dame Holds Position at Top Of Grid Parade

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame, its well-oiled football machine working to perfection, kept its place at the head of the United States college football parade Saturday while two of the West Coast's highly regarded teams, College of Pacific and March Field, tasted defeat for the first time this season.

The Irish rolled over freshman-studded Illinois, 47-0. Pacific, enjoying its greatest year under the guidance of 81-year-old Alonzo Stagg, finally ran into a snag with unbeaten Southern California, losing to Trojans, 6 to 0 in a last period touchdown before 75,000 fans. Undefeated Washington whipped power-laden March Field 27 to 7 in the first defeat for the fliers.

Army rolled over Yale 39-10.7, but for the first time this season the cadets had their goal line crossed. Pennsylvania's Quakers smothered Columbia 33 to 0. Purdue's Boilermakers had trouble with Iowa for three quarters but pushed over three touchdowns in the final chapter to win 28 to 7. Northwestern found a stubborn foe in Ohio State in winning 13 to 0.

Michigan won the little brown jug back from Minnesota with Bill Daley, ex-Gopher back, and Elroy Hirsch, formerly of Wisconsin, leading the Wolverines to a 49 to 6 triumph.

Louisiana State made it two straight for the season over Georgia in the south's No. 1 game, winning 27 to 0.

Lee Savold Scores First-round Kayo

CLEVELAND (AP) — Lee Savold, Patterson, N.J., heavy-weight, scored a whirlwind first-round knockout over Eddie Blunt of New York before 5,592 Friday night. The knockout came at 1:02 of the opening fight. Savold weighed 195 pounds, 25 less than his opponent.

Savold's quick triumph avenged a 10-round decision which he dropped to Blunt in Akron, Ohio, three weeks ago. Blunt never landed a blow in the brief session.

In his dressing room after the fight, Savold said he was prepared for a quick finish. "I was all warmed up and had been practicing running out of my corner for 15 minutes before I was to go on," he said.

Freddy Pope, Sammy Angott's protegee from Columbus, Ohio, won a verdict over Pittsburgh's Jackie Wilson, former National Boxing Association feather-weight titlist, in a 10-rounder.

Two-year agreement granted a Senator pilot since 1929.

Season Opens in Aleutians

Men of the United States navy are not particular about the condition of the field as the football season opens on Adak, one of the smaller Aleutian Islands. There is no regulation in uniforms, in fact those beavers look like good places to hide the ball, and it is obvious that offside does not matter.

Army, R.A.F. Win Rugby Games By Decisive Scores

Establishing a 16 to 0 lead in the first half, R.A.F. fifteen smashed through to a surprise 22 to 6 triumph over Naval College, last year's champions, in Saturday's Barnard-Cup rugby match. Second fixture of the afternoon saw the Army blank the Navy 40 to 0 for their second straight triumph and first place in the league standings.

After going down to defeat in the opening match of the season at the hands of the Army, the R.A.F. lads showed a lot of improvement to take the Naval College representatives into camp. The British airmen displayed a marked advantage in the scrum with the result their backfield had plenty of openings to get away on fast breaks.

Jeffery, Jones, Kerema, Spliers, Anderson and Robertson went for the R.A.F. with Anderson kicking two conversions. Naval College's six points in the second half came as the result of two fine penalty kicks by Wood.

Their line-up bolstered by the return of Art Chapman and Doug Peden, the Army literally steam-rolled the Navy into defeat. The troops were out in front 30 to 0 at halftime and added another 10 points in the second period.

VanDruen and Smith smashed over the sailor line twice, while Stevens, McMillan, Peden, Gornall and Gray each accounted for a try. Greig and McCorkall each converted two tries, and Peden kicked a penalty goal.

MAINLAND RUGBY

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ex-Britannia scored their third straight win in as many starts in the Vancouver Rugby Union's Miller Cup series Saturday. They scored a 10 to 9 (two goals to three tries) victory over the hitherto unbeaten Varsity 15. Rowing Club beat R.C.A.F. 9 to 3 (two tries and a penalty goal to a try) in the other game of the weekly doubleheader.

R.A.F., Army Win Soccer

British Flyers In Lead

Superior condition was the big factor in the 4 to 1 victory of the R.A.F. over the Victoria Machinery Depot in Saturday's feature first division soccer match. Second game of the afternoon saw the Army turn back Yarrow's 5 to 1. R.A.F. lead the league with two wins in as many starts.

After being held to a 1 to 1 deadlock in the first half the British Flyers romped through a leg weary shipyard club in the final 45 minutes of play. V.M.D. players definitely wilted in the second half and what had proven a good exhibition in the opening stages turned into a rout. There was only one team on the field in the second portion of play.

V.M.D. opened the scoring on a goal of the soft variety. Taking a long shot from near the centre field line Barney Barnswell, right halfback, was the most surprised player on the field when the ball took a high bounce over goalie Cooke's head into the back of the net. R.A.F. settled down and were able to get the tying counter before the interval, Richman taking a long pass from Davidson, beating V.M.D. goalie Evans to the ball, and booting it into the empty net.

Early in the second half the R.A.F. moved into the lead, Richman deflecting Craig's cross with his head into the corner of the net. Still hemming the V.M.D. pretty well in their own half of the field the R.A.F. made it 3 to 1, Cox picking up a loose ball and blasting a low shot past Evans. Four R.A.F. counter came from the noggin of Richman on a cross from right winger Craig.

ARMY TAKES SECOND

Marking up their first win of the season at the expense of Yarrow's, the Army eleven moved into second place in the standings with a victory and draw in two engagements.

Seattle War Workers Score Golf Victory

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle war-working golfers avenged an earlier defeat Sunday with a 3 1/2 to 20 1/2 victory over 12 visiting Vancouver, B.C., linksmen in the final of a home and home series.

But the victor's 13-point margin left them nine points behind the Canadians, who took a 22-point lead in the first match, and gave the northerners the first leg on the George Norgan trophy.

Seattle won the singles competition 22-24 and the foursomes 11 1/2 to 6 1/2.

Prospects Brighter For Patrick's Club

New Players Make Debut With Rangers

WINNIPEG (CP) — Ten days ago Lester Patrick and Frank Boucher, manager and coach respectively of New York Rangers, wouldn't have given two cents for their team's chances in the National Hockey League this season. In fact they didn't care to discuss them.

But the whole complexion has changed. Six days away from their opening game of the season with Toronto Maple Leafs in Toronto, the Ranger charge d'affaires are quite happy, or relatively so. They at least feel comfortable their team will make a good showing during the coming campaign.

LITTLE SUNSHINE

"The situation looked very dark when we hit training camp 10 days ago," Manager Patrick said while discussing prospects for the season. "It looked like we were going to have trouble icing six men, let alone a whole roster. However, as training progressed, a little sunshine swept in to pave the way for a brighter outlook."

"We'll at least have numerical strength," said the silver-thatched chief who is starting his 18th season at the Rangers' helm, "but it would be foolish of me to go out on the limb and predict we'll win a championship."

Patrick expects to mould his club around several veterans, a couple of teen-age youngsters and a collection of army rejects.

Battling for the goalkeeper job left vacant when Billy Beveridge returned to Cleveland at the end of the last season, will be three western Canada lads, Ken McAuley and Don Murray, from Edmonton, and Elwin Rollins from Moose Jaw. The Ranger boss has signed all three, but suggests that the 21-year-old McAuley will get the call for the assignment.

The team stacks up well defensively with two veterans, Ott Heller and Gordon Davidson, and probably Tommy Dewar, a 32-year-old Calgary amateur, available. Heller and Davidson are sure bets, both have signed 1943-1944 contracts, and Dewar is expected to come to terms shortly.

Patrick has chosen only one of his Ranger forward lines to date. He has signed Don Raleigh, 17, a Winnipeg junior veteran of two N.H.L. campaigns, and Art Strobel, 20, a former Regina amateur.

As to the makeup of other front line combinations: Patrick was non-committal, but there is some topnotch forward material in the team's camp. It includes Bryan Hexall and Bill Gooden, both regulars last season; Jack McDonald, a nifty rookie from Portage la Prairie, Man., and Max Labovitch, a performer last season for the now defunct New Haven Eagles.

Then there are reports coach Frank Boucher may come out of a five-year retirement to help out the cause. He has starred in pre-season workouts, displaying the same cleverness which earned him stardom during 12 years of big league hockey.

SOCCER CALLED OFF

Sunday's scheduled second division soccer match, between the East Indians and R.A.F., at Bullen Park, was called off by the referee owing to the ground conditions.

VANCOUVER SOCCER — VANCOUVER (CP) — A terrific shot by Marcel Temoit two minutes from time gave Boelings a 2 to 2 draw with St. Saviours in the Coast Soccer League game here Saturday, and sent the aircraft builders into a one-point lead in the standings.

Hockey Gossip

Manager Jack Adams announces that his defence quartette for Detroit Red Wings' National Hockey League opener against New York Rangers Sunday will be Cully Simon, Hal Jackson, Bill Quackenbush and Gordon Sherrett. All but Sherrett, who played last season with Indianapolis Caps of the American League, have had previous major league experience.

Jockey Bobby Summers of Winnipeg, injured Saturday at Dufferin Park on the final day of the Canadian racing season, declined an offer to turn professional with Montreal Canadiens.

Coach Clarence (Happy) Day says he hasn't signed a single player to a Leaf contract this year. A few players are signed for 1943-44, but their contracts extend over from last year.

Montreal Canadiens downed Boston Bruins 6 to 5 at Quebec Sunday in an exhibition game before 7,000 fans.

Three lines that look as though they might become permanent did the scoring for Canadiens. Buddy O'Connor was flanked by Gerry Heffernan and newcomer Fernand Majeau, and the line accounted for a pair of markers. Ray Gettiffe, Murph Chamberlin and rookie Larry Reardon accounted for another pair of markers.

Maurice Richard, Elmer Lach and Toe Blake made up the third effective line, that clicked for a single goal, while Glen Harmon scored the other one on a solo effort.

Detroit Red Wings will defend its National Hockey League crown with one veteran line which produced 62 goals last winter and with two other lines centred by rookies, manager Jack Adams announced Sunday.

The veteran line will comprise Mud Bruneteau, Syd Howe and Carl Liscombe, a combination which played a big part in winning a third Stanley Cup for Detroit as Bruneteau made 23 goals, Howe 20 and Liscombe 19.

Two veteran wingmen, Joe Carveth and Adam Brown, will team on the second line with Frank Bennett of Toronto, former defenceman with Oshawa Generals junior team.

Pivot for the third line will be Tony Butkovich, former Michigan-Ontario League amateur, with veteran Bill Jennings at right wing and either Johnny Sherf or Bernie Ruelle at left wing.

New Germ Formula Doubles Freshness Of Powdered Milk

ST. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Quebec—Whole milk powder containing minute amounts of wheat germ oil and edible acids will stay fresh about twice as long as untreated milk (research at MacDonald College laboratories here shows). If the simple, inexpensive method proves out, it could be employed to extend the usable life of the quantities of dried milk being shipped to war zones from Canada and U.S.

Dried milk is so light as to offer striking military advantages, but its use has always been limited by danger that the butterfat would turn rancid. For this reason, the Canadian Research Council asked Dr. W. D. McFarlane of MacDonald College, McGill University, to study natural food materials which gave promise of delaying rancidity in milk powder. Dr. McFarlane now reports that "very striking results" were obtained by adding wheat germ oil formula to the milk equivalent to 0.1% of the butterfat content. The oil is extracted at low temperatures and combined with minute amounts of edible "hydroxy" acids producing a formula more effective than wheat germ oil alone, which has long been known to improve the keeping quality of less stable fats.

The wheat germ oil formula is simply homogenized into a small amount of skim milk, which in turn is poured into the liquid whole milk to be dried. So slight an amount is used that no change can be detected in the color or taste of the milk powder. The germ oil harmlessly oxidizes instead of the butterfat, delaying rancidity and helping to retain the vitamin A content. Dr. McFarlane found that this doubled the life of milk powder, and even before these findings could be published, the Canadian Navy began to use the formula in milk powder tablets for emergency rations.

The immediate military significance of this discovery stems from the fact that so little wheat germ oil is used that our entire dried milk output could be protected with it from existing supplies of oil. Besides, no new machinery is needed to mix it with the liquid milk. Dried milk would still be packed for export in vacuum cans, but the wheat germ oil would give added protection. This would be especially valuable after cans are opened, and in warm climates.

United States production of dried milk in 1943 is expected to reach 150 million pounds, breaking all records, emphasizing the importance of keeping qualities.

Dr. P. H. Tracy, authority on milk powder at the University of Illinois, has also been working on the problem, and confirms that "wheat germ oil was found to retard the development of an oxidized flavor in powdered whole milk." Dr. Tracy emphasizes that wheat germ oil cannot substitute for fine quality in milk powder; that it is simply an added protection.

In connection with this improvement in milk powder, officials of the Food and Drug Administration have pointed out that they know of no barrier to the addition of so slight an amount of pure food materials to milk powder, since no standard for dried whole milk has been set up under the 1938 law.

Shipworkers Protest Poll Tax Deductions

Twelve grounds for protest were included in a petition forwarded by approximately 30 Yarrow's Ltd. workers to the City Council objecting to deductions from their pay cheques for road and poll tax.

Claiming the action unfair, unjust and inequitable, the workers said many had been directed without option to the city for war work by Selective Service, had left homes and families on the special transfer order, paid taxes and maintained homes in other regions, were subject to high rents here and high living costs and could not secure homes in this district. Many objected to the city's collection when they had been residing in Victoria under six months.

Since the deductions were made without consent in writing from the employees they were, in the opinion of some, illegal, according to the petition.

The petitioners ask a refund and say the action provides little inducement to them to become settlers.

"No free country should have taxation on voting," the petition preamble said.

Judge H. H. Shandley has received from the Royal Canadian Golf Association a perforated sterling silver salver with enameled badge of the association in the centre, which he has been awarded as a prize for winning the Red Cross tournament held at the Victoria Club recently.

Near Gale, High Seas At Fishing Resorts

There were a lot of enthusiastic fishermen at Cowichan and Maple Bay during the weekend but they had considerable difficulty getting in any of their favorite sport owing to the high wind and seas that struck these two favorite fishing grounds.

At Cowichan Bay a strong easterly tern wind that reached nearly gale proportions and blew up a high sea forced a large number of boats to run for shelter. There were so many fish in the bay that the hardy anglers didn't want to go home and several of them experienced difficulty getting back to their moorings.

Sunday there was a fair sea running but no wind with the result that around 50 boats braved the elements.

At Maple Bay there was a continual running of boats for shelter both days as high seas tossed the small boats around.

Officials at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club reported no trouble with the many boats anchored in Cadboro Bay.

How much VICTORY will $100 buy?

- When peace comes everyone in Canada will share in it.
- Yet more than two million gainfully employed Canadians who could buy a Victory bond, have not done so, yet.
- You, perhaps, belong to the other three million or so who have bought a bond. And you will buy again and again.
- You consider these bonds your share in victory.
- But have you stopped to ask yourself how much victory $100 will buy?
- Have you seen the latest figures on what Canada must spend if we are to shoulder our full share as a free and prosperous nation in the cost of the war?
- Do you know that up to June of this year Canada has spent 4 1/2 billions on war munitions?
- Do you know that since the war began Canada has built and launched 230 frigates, corvettes and minesweepers, over 100 patrol ships, and 178 freighters?
- Do you know that over half the military vehicles which carried General Montgomery's army to victory in North Africa were made in Canada?
- Do you know that the Air Training Plan for the next two years will cost $1,500,000,000, of which Canada will pay half?
- Do you know that so far we have spent on industrial expansion and defence construction—in Canada itself—more than a billion dollars?
- These billions add up to Canada's share in victory.
- Do you think $100 is your share of the total?
- You are paying taxes, yes.
- And perhaps you have some bonds already.
- But have you bought your share?
- Only you, yourself, after you have thought everything over and determined to save every dollar you can—only you can answer that.

Japanese Scared Of Air Bombing, Says Dr. Talbott

"Japan's military regime must be liquidated before there can be any permanent peace on the Pacific," said Dr. E. Guy Talbott of San Francisco, in an interview at the Empress today.

Dr. Talbott, who Sunday addressed the local branch of the League of Nations Society of Canada, and today spoke before the Women's Canadian Club on "Problems of the Pacific," is director of the International Centre in San Francisco; Pacific coast director of International Centres of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace; United Nations Association; League of Nations Association and other peace organizations, and contributing editor of the Argonaut.

He is en route to Chicago to attend the Carnegie Endowment conference, commencing Nov. 4. Dr. Talbott thinks that Japan can be bombed into submission by large-scale bombing of her war production plants by raids of the calibre now being carried on with such devastating effect over the industrial cities of Germany.

The Japanese are "scared to death" of bombing, Dr. Talbott says. They have already taken the precaution of moving some of their largest munition plants into the interior.

"Basically, the U.S. and British job in the Pacific is aerial and naval," he said.

TOUGH TO CRACK

He said it was his belief that Japan could be beaten by bombing and naval support within a relatively few months, but he warned against over-optimism, stating that Japan would not suddenly crack internally as Germany did in the last war.

The three supposedly sacred ideas in Japan, Shinto, Kodo and Bushido, he said, are magic Japanese words signifying hallowed ideas. A knowledge of these three words would help Occidentals to understand Japanese fanaticism and barbarism.

"They will acquiesce to the nature of the foe we face across the Pacific," said Dr. Talbott.

The present military position in the Pacific, Dr. Talbott does not regard as a stalemate, although it might be considered so as far as Japan's major conquests were concerned. Japan has had a chance of consolidating her newly won resources, such as rubber, oil, tin, but to what extent it was impossible to say.

The taking of island after island in the south Pacific theatre, said Dr. Talbott, while necessary for the establishment of bases from which to control vital areas, would not get the United Nations anywhere on the Pacific.

HEDGE-HOPPING USELESS

"By this hedge-hopping," he said, "it would take us 50 years to beat Japan. We are still 2,000 miles away from Japan. Our only hope of getting at Japan proper is by air and naval power."

"To prevent further acts of aggression by Japan," Dr. Talbott continued, "her military might must be destroyed, her navy surrendered and her army reduced to a police component. All territory occupied by Japan, either on the Asiatic mainland or one of the Pacific islands, must be relinquished. Japan must be completely disarmed for at least 20 years. This drastic proposal probably will not be carried out and would be unnecessary if a plan of collective security is organized for the Pacific area of the global world structure."

Russia is definitely a part of the Pacific problem. "Any collective security system in the Pacific," he said, "would inevitably involve the co-operation of the United States, Russia and China as the nations most immediately concerned and responsible for peace on the Pacific."

Capt. W. G. Black, director of Vocational Training School, will broadcast over CJVI tonight at 7.15, under the auspices of the Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council.

Sponsor at Tanker Launching

Mrs. Wanda Gill, who has seen 14 years' service with the Victoria Machinery Depot, smiles for the cameraman at the launching of the 10,000-ton tanker Clearwater Park Saturday. Just prior to the launching ceremony the V.M.D. won the right to fly the Victory Loan Flag signifying that the plant had gone over the top with its quota of $265,500.

B.C.-Yukon Maintains Daily Loan Average

First week of the three-week Fifth Victory Loan campaign netted British Columbia and Yukon district $40,429,900, just over 33 per cent of the quota of $120,000,000.

More than half this sum is derived from large applications, those from the public numbering 74,426, compared with 40,683 the first week of the Fourth Loan.

The public has subscribed $16,840,950 maintaining, but not exceeding the daily average needed. This figure is $4,500,000 ahead of the amount invested during the last loan at a similar period.

Powell River is in the lead of provincial units, with 60 per cent of its quota, Vancouver is second with 38 per cent.

Canadian Pacific Railway offices in Vancouver report that $17,300 has been subscribed by its staff, much of it from pensioners and Canadian Pacific veterans.

In Winnipeg, employees of the Trans-Canada Air Lines reached 51 per cent of their Victory Loan quota. O. T. Larson, vice-president, said today.

The sum of $122,800 have been subscribed by 1,354 employees, Winnipeg branch having attained 61 per cent of their loan objective.

Many departments of the Trans-Canada Air Lines went over the top the first week, Gander, Newfoundland, exceeded its set goal by 150 per cent, Winnipeg stores by 46 per cent, payroll accounting and Vancouver pilots by 12 per cent.

Pottery Features Crafts Exhibition

Pottery skillfully wrought in original designs marks one of the largest entries in the Vancouver Island Arts and Crafts Exhibition now open for 10 days at the Crystal Garden.

Each piece, most of which are fashioned from Vancouver Island clay, has nothing of an amateur's workmanship. Included are candlesticks, cigarette boxes, vases, animal figures varying from life-size to miniature, large and small flower bowls, some with matching flower holders, salt and pepper shakers and match holders.

Mrs. O. Maynard's display is entirely in blue, varying from pale turquoise to deepest indigo. Many of her pieces are trimmed with tiny flower figures, somewhat similar to those turned out by makers of English china.

Other entries are by H. Jones, including two Chinese figures; Catherine Lothian, whose pottery carries out the designs of coast Indians; Mrs. C. Swayne, Mrs. M. Grute, Mrs. C. D. Schofield, Mrs. Groos and Mrs. Burchett.

Another large exhibit includes paintings in oil and water color, chiefly the work of Victoria artists. Adeline Baxter shows a number of sensitive portraits, among which those of Mrs. A. M. D. Fairbairn and Mrs. J. K. Harte are especially notable. Constance Bonaldi's "Lakes" is a skilled piece, while Gladys Woodward has caught the light and shadow of a woodland scene in water color. Ina Unthoff's "Forest Light" is a vivid study in impressionistic style. One of the most finished of the oils is by John Kule, A.R.C.A., entitled "Coming Rain."

Plates, bowls, ornaments in silver, pewter and copper, the work of Mrs. C. E. Wilson, form an interesting display. There are two of her set of 12 large silver dinner plates, rims of which she has bordered in an original chased design, one of a dozen tiny silver monogrammed match boxes, a copper bowl and matching ash tray.

Especially outstanding is a large pewter centerpiece and a water lily. Luncheon sets worked on net and in crochet by Mrs. Wilson form a background to her metalwork, while she also shows cabinet work, including a leg and foot rest with tapestry covering.

Knitting bags, belts, handbags and scarfs chiefly in pastel shades make up the weaving exhibit. In this section Mrs. G. Anstey and Mrs. S. Coulter are demonstrating the working of a spinning wheel that belonged to Mrs. Dennis Harris and which is now the property of the Weavers' Guild. Nearby Mrs. Marjorie Hill shows how to run a weaving loom. Mrs. M. Peel has entered a piece of Morris embroidery, a type of work she learned in London.

The art of fashioning rugs by hand is far from dead among Victoria's craftsmen judging by the small but varied exhibit. Among the work shown is that of Hazel Jones who, like other exhibitors, has dyed and prepared raw wool for her rugs, one of which is a large beige rectangle with brilliant flowers and another a kitten design on a dark green background.

tricks. Marilyn Sehl and J. Hornby gave a whirlwind exhibition on roller skates.

Bill McDonald, president of the Students' Council, was master of ceremonies.

Students from Spokane and Bremerton, Wash., attended as guests of the Students' Council.

R. L. Pocock, 69, Newsman 36 Years, Dies Suddenly

R. L. Pocock, 69, for 36 years connected with the Daily Colonist, died suddenly Sunday afternoon at his home, 1145-Victoria Street.

He had been in his usual state of health and was preparing to visit the beach to gather wood when he collapsed, dying a few minutes later.

His last piece of newspaper work was a tribute to Jas. L. Tait, managing director of the Colonist, who died Saturday morning. They had worked together since 1907, and the long illness and death of Mr. Tait affected Mr. Pocock deeply.

In his column, "From the Wings," Mr. Pocock, Sunday morning, paid tribute to "Jimmy" Tait. He went home, and died a few hours later.

"J.L." was a straight shooter, and never took an unfair advantage in work or play," wrote R.L.P. of Mr. Tait. The same might be said of Mr. Pocock.

WON SCHOLARSHIP

Born in London, Eng., Jan. 4, 1874, Mr. Pocock had a brilliant scholastic and athletic career in England before coming to Canada. He won a scholarship in classics and attended Pembroke College, Oxford, where he became captain of the rowing team.

About 1897 Mr. Pocock came to Canada and settled in the Nelson district, where he became interested in mining. After some practical experience in the B.C. interior he went to China to become superintendent of a mercury mine, hundreds of miles up the Yangtze River. He remained there three years.

Returning to British Columbia, he became associated with the late H. B. Thomson, and was among those contributing to the early settlement of Powell River.

In 1907 Mr. Pocock went to the Daily Colonist. He first worked in the business office, later transferring to the editorial department. In the intervening years he had covered every "beat" on the paper, had practically every job. For years he was sports editor, subsequently he became telegraph editor, city editor and news editor. In earlier days he was an excellent photographer, and many of his pictures appeared in the Colonist. He was among the first news photographers in this province.

In recent months Mr. Pocock had been named assistant editor of his paper, and had daily written a column in the Colonist — "From the Wings," which appeared on the editorial page.

KINDLY HEART

Known to his associates as "Poke," or "R.L.," he had been a newspaper fixture in Victoria. A gruff exterior hid a kindly heart and warm personality.

When he was not writing, or editing, or taking pictures, Mr. Pocock loved to hunt, and fish, and golf. More than once he and Mr. Tait enjoyed such outdoor excursions together.

Mr. Pocock did a great deal to establish the old Victoria Press Club, and later took an active interest in the B.C. Institute of Journalists.

He leaves his wife at the family residence, one daughter, Mrs. A. K. Robinson, and four grandchildren. Remains are at Hayward's, where service will be conducted in the chapel at 1.30 p.m. Wednesday, with burial at Royal Oak.

Sam Reid's Funeral Set for Tuesday

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 3 for Samuel Nish Reid, 86, for many years Dominion superintendent of immigration, who passed away Friday last at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Dr. Hugh A. McLeod will officiate at the service at Sands Mortuary, the funeral being held under the auspices of the I.O.O.F. Columbia Lodge No. 2, of which the late Mr. Reid had been a prominent member.

Sam Reid was intimately known to the travelling public all over the north Pacific coast through his long association with the Canadian immigration service. He was the son of the late Rev. John Reid, for many years identified with First Presbyterian Church here.

He was first appointed Dominion immigration agent here Sept. 1, 1918, coming to Victoria from Seattle, where he was previously stationed as Canadian immigration inspector.

On Jan. 16, 1929, he was granted sick leave, and on May 11, 1930 he was superannuated.

His son, Lieut. Clifford D. Reid, followed his father as superintendent of immigration here prior to the outbreak of the present war and was later granted leave of absence to again serve in a war capacity.

2 Months' Property Sales $849,370 Here

During August and September $1,147,654 worth of property changed hands in Victoria, $849,370 by direct sale, according to figures released by the city assessor-collector's department today.

August was more active, with 124 properties selling for $532,474. The amount was the highest for any month on record since figures were first listed in their present form in 1930.

Included in sales in August was the Belmont Building, which went to the Department of National Defence from the Scottish Providential Institution, Edinburgh, Scotland, for $175,875.

September sales would have been notable enough had it not been for the August figure. Last month 127 properties changed hands for $316,896.

In addition to sales, transfers saw 44 parcels of a total value of $99,422 and nine worth $22,412 come to different owners through wills.

In August transfers totaled 59, worth $106,410, and wills 32, worth $70,040.

2 Cars, Tire, Gas, Bicycles Stolen

Two automobiles, a tire, gasoline and bicycles were among goods reported to city police to have been stolen during the week-end.

Ray Kalfus, 1213 Douglas, and J. R. Bruce, 625 Superior, reported cars stolen. The Bruce car was recovered by the owner.

Bob Duncan, 1146 Richardson, said a tire had been stolen from his truck parked on Hampshire Road, while J. D. Dron, 209 St. Charles, said four gallons of gasoline had been stolen from his car.

A bicycle Allan Thompson had reported stolen Saturday was recovered by city police. Roy Gallop, 2114 Belmont, reported the theft of a generator from his bicycle. D. Campbell, 2309 Windsor Road, said his bicycle had been stolen.

Two bogus 50 cent pieces were turned in to a B.C. Electric street car operator.

A room at the Canton National Rooms, 1602½ Government, was entered and ransacked but nothing was reported missing. Irene Kerr and Joan Hutchinson told city police today. The room was entered with a pass key.

Four dozen railroad torpedoes were stolen from a shed at the C.N.R. depot, city police learned today. Detective F. Woodburn said the torpedoes, used to warn locomotive engineers, were taken from a shed which had been broken into apparently by juveniles.

3 Booms Break Loose

Three log-booms, owned by the Spruce Products Ltd. and containing about 400,000 feet of lumber, were retrieved early today by Capt. Fred Warren and his crew in the tugboat We Two.

The unbroken booms were picked up in the Inner Harbor. Capt. Warren said he was at a

Woman Found Slain; Husband Questioned

NEW YORK (AP)—New York police said Wayne Loneragan, 25, R.C.A.F. airman, was detained by Toronto police today for them for questioning in connection with the budgeon slaying here of his pretty estranged wife, Patricia Burton Loneragan, 22.

Police said arrangements were made to send a representative of the district attorney's office to Toronto to question him.

Acting Deputy Inspector Patrick J. Kenny, working on the investigation, said "he has cuts and scratches on his face, we are told." Kenny said that "if Loneragan consents to come back he will be returned to New York immediately," but "if he fights extradition, we shall have to wait until the necessary papers and details are arranged."

The body was found Sunday night in an east 51st Street triplex apartment by a captain of the U.S. Marines Corps who called on a dinner date.

(Police in Toronto today said they were holding AC2. Wayne Loneragan. They said that when Loneragan, an American, was arrested he was in civilian clothes, and that he explained his uniform had been stolen from him in New York, from where he returned Sunday night.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—The submarine Dorado today was listed by the navy as last after serving as a combat ship for less than two months.

A communique said Sunday that the Dorado, commissioned Aug. 28, was long overdue and must be presumed to be lost. It carried 65 officers and men.

It was the 13th sub lost since this country's entry into the war. While no reference was made as to where the loss occurred, it was presumed the action was in the Pacific.

Selkirk Repented Request to Be Left On Lonely Island

From time to time we read a note that there was a "real Robinson Crusoe," and that his name was Alexander Selkirk. A few facts may be given with the note about Selkirk's life on the island, but in general it is hard to find anything close to a full story.

To get the best story about Selkirk, we must go back to a diary kept by a British sea captain during a cruise around the world. His name was Woodes Rogers, and during his long voyage he found Selkirk and took him back to Great Britain.

Selkirk sadly watched the small boat return to the sailing vessel.

The captain wrote down many of the statements made by the rescued man.

Selkirk is believed to have told his adventures to Daniel Defoe, who turned what he heard into a story known as "Robinson Crusoe." Defoe changed many of the important facts and made his story a work of fancy.

This week I shall tell the true story of Selkirk, as drawn from Capt. Rogers' diary and other trustworthy records.

In the year 1676 a baby was born in the small Scottish village known as Largo. The father was a shoemaker, and the infant, his seventh son, was named Alexander.

At the age of 19, Alexander went to sea. He enjoyed sailing over salt water in quest of adventure. During most of the rest of his life he was to be a sailor.

Alexander Selkirk was in his middle twenties when he signed aboard a vessel which was to go to the South Seas. He was given the title of "sailing master," but there were other officers above him in rank. One of these was the captain, Thomas Stradling.

Far down in the South Pacific, about 450 miles west of the coast of Chile, a dispute arose between Selkirk and Stradling. Selkirk said that the vessel was no longer fit for sailing, and asked to be left off on an island known as Juan Fernandez. This island had been used by sailors as a place to get wood and water, but no human being lived on it at the time Selkirk was put ashore.

Hardly had the small boat left to return to the sailing vessel when Selkirk decided that he did not want to be left on the island. He called out to ask to be taken aboard again, but his request was refused.

Dorothy Dix:

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a married woman who foolishly became involved in a love affair with a married man. I realized how wrong I was and for three years now I have done everything in my power to evade him and break with him, but he telephones me every night begging and pleading to see me and this causes many embarrassing situations which can only be covered up by lying. I do not know what desperate act he may commit to see me and I am greatly worried, for even though he has a wife he does not love, and four children, I cannot make him understand that I have realized the mistake I made and wish to be left alone to try to make up to my husband in my own way for what I have done.

I feel sure that any action I might take against this man for his continual pursuing of me would make him reveal the situation as it once stood to my husband. I would rather die than

Charm Not Vital Says Film Director

Cheer up, ladies! It isn't necessary to be beautiful to be a glamour girl. You don't need a trunkful of smart clothes or a fancy coiffure. You don't need luminous make-up or fake eyelashes. Because glamour, according to Richard Thorpe, one of Hollywood's ace directors, is simply another word for our old friend, personality.

Thorpe knows whereof he speaks. He has directed some of the screen's acknowledged glamour queens. He has also directed productions in which character roles ruled the script. A recent one of these is "Barnacle Bill," Wallace Beery's latest starring film for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, coming today to the Rio Theatre.

Garson, Colman Co-star at Cadet

M.G.M.'s "Random Harvest," now being shown at the Cadet Theatre, has the perfect combination to make a memorable motion picture. The story is a filmization of the best selling novel by James Hilton, who also authored "Lost Horizon" and "Goodbye, Mr. Chips." As its co-stars, it brings together for the first time, Ronald Colman, who won high

48-Star Movie Held Over Here

Sol Lesser reversed Hollywood tradition for his star-studded "Stage Door Canteen," in which 48 name personalities of screen, stage and radio appear as themselves. He assigned the leading roles to six Hollywood unknowns: Cheryl Walker, William Terry, Marjorie Riordan, Lon MacCallister, Margaret Early and Michael Harrison. Cheryl Walker is a former stand-in for Veronica Lake, Claudette Colbert and Madeleine Carroll; Bill Terry was in turn a truck driver, messenger boy and student at the Pasadena Community Playhouse; Marjorie Riordan, a University of Wisconsin student; Lon MacCallister, grandson of an RKO gatekeeper; Margaret Early, a young Alabama dramatic student, and Michael Harrison, an ex-cowboy. "Stage Door Canteen," which is currently at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres on through United Artists release, has an array of stellar performers in its cast.

praise in "Lost Horizon," and Greer Garson, who rose to stardom in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips." Mervyn LeRoy, who directed "Blossoms in the Dust," and Sidney Franklin, who produced "Mrs. Miniver," two of Miss Garson's outstanding hits, are the director-producer team of "Random Harvest." Beat this combination if you can!

Tony Martin Aids Marx Bros. at York

Five hit musical numbers feature the Marx Brothers' newest funfest, "The Big Store," opening today at the York Theatre. Harpo and Chico have their usual solos on the harp and piano, while Tony Martin sings two songs and Groucho and Virginia O'Brien join forces in a novelty song and dance number.

Most spectacular number is "Tenement Symphony," sung by Martin, with Harpo and Chico playing their favorite instruments during one chorus. A 40-piece orchestra of youngsters and a 24-boy choir furnishes the accompaniment.

'Stormy Weather' Has Starry Cast

From vaudeville, night clubs and musical comedy, as well as from Hollywood, 20th Century-Fox has assembled an array of entertainment headlines for their top-notch musical, "Stormy Weather," which opened today at the Atlas Theatre.

Something new in musicals, "Stormy Weather" has a film full of stars combined with a story that is a cavalcade of rhythm. Boasting the best tunes of all, its production numbers are among the finest ever filmed.

Lena Horne, Bill Robinson and Cab Calloway and his band top the cast of the tune-packed film.

Saving Paper.

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Readers of the Moncton Transcript opened their newspaper Saturday to find what they thought was a ripped half page. However, it was the Transcript's own idea of meeting the current newspaper shortage. By printing two inner pages, or half pages, of four columns each, the afternoon daily has found a way of reducing its size one page at a time.

Navy Wins Another Victory Loan Flag

One after another the little vessels of the Royal Canadian Fishermen's Reserve fleet are hoisting their victory pennants, signifying their intention of fighting not with men alone, but also with money. Naval officials today report further successes in the Fifth Victory Loan campaign among the men in blue.

H.M.C.S. Leelo, one of the newest in the sturdy west coast fleet, is the most recent ship to reach her quota of $750. She is commanded by Coxswain F. Brown, R.C.N.R. (F.R.), of Nanaimo, B.C., and Coxswain G. McDonald. The ship was built by Foster Shipyards, Victoria, in 1941.

P.O. M. S. Belkin, R.C.N., canvasser for the H.M.C.S. Givichy seamen announces that with $500 more to be subscribed, his unit will probably go over the top today. Chief Shipwright S. W. Walford, R.C.N.V.R., of Edmonton, is the canvasser of chief and petty officers' division, and a veteran, having participated actively in all five Victory Loan drives. This branch has achieved 80 per cent of its quota.

Discovery of interesting personal backgrounds often accompanies the sale of war loan bonds. For instance, CPO R. Duden of Victoria and Toronto, who has had over 23 years with the navy, saw action on the H.M.C.S. St. Laurent during 1940-41. He was aboard when the ship picked up survivors from a prison ship carrying Axis prisoners to Canada. CPO Duden claims that 895 prisoners, saved from their own torpedoes, were jammed below in St. Laurent, some of them in the ship's boiler rooms.

RPO. Ronald Sears, R.C.N., master-at-arms at the Fishermen's Reserve training pool, has also seen a great deal of active service, serving on such ships as the H.M.S. Warspite, H.M.S. Iron Duke, H.M.C.S. Skeena and H.M.C.S. Vancouver. His purchase of Victory Bonds is the reflection of the navy spirit—they give their personal freedom, their safety, sometimes their lives, and they still buy bonds to speed the Victory.

Snakes have an ancient (and many of them an honorable) lineage since they began to appear on the earth some hundred million years ago.

Victoria Clubmen See Pat Bay Base

Kiwanis and Lions clubmen and their sons Saturday visited the R.C.A.F. station at Patricia Bay, making a tour of the air base and its facilities.

Greeted by Group Capt. G. R. McGregor, O.B.E., D.F.C., station O.C., the party saw various squadrons, the marine base and control tower where they heard communication with aircraft in flight.

Visitors next week will be members of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs. Arrangements for the visits were made by Sqdn. Ldr. V. M. Lynch-Staunton, senior administrative officer.

Lieut. Mollie Entwistle B.E.M.

A hotel fire is blazing one mid-winter night in Ottawa : : : Lance-Corporal Mollie Entwistle, Canadian Women's Army Corps, leads ranks under her command to safety. She's ill with a high fever : : : it makes no difference : : : she returns to the building : : : assists other occupants to safety. Canada's Governor-General pins the British Empire Medal to her tunic... the tunic of the same Mollie Entwistle, of Hamilton, who early in the war helped to organize a women's defence corps : : : who is one of the first to enlist in the C.W.A.C. Today, it is Lieutenant Mollie Entwistle : : : C.W.A.C. recruiting officer for Military District No. 2.

Says Mollie: "C.W.A.C.'s are buying Victory Bonds, because, like everyone else, they want to see this war won just as quickly as possible."

Messenger Jill Humphreys

A mobile canteen bumps over the English lanes through the blackest winter Britain ever saw... a 16-year-old girl driving. No more going to school abroad for a determined young Canadian... working in London's Beaver Club... the B.C. Canteen, supervised by her mother... an air raid... her mother is killed... her brother, an R.A.F. flier injured... grounded for the duration. Jill Nicola Humphreys, of Victoria... heads home to Canada... goes through a torpedoing at sea. Today, at 19, she serves aboard H.M.C.S. Bytown, at Ottawa... one of that establishment's hardest working messenger "WRENS."

Says Jill: "I think you know how I must feel about Victory Bonds. There are many reasons for buying them... mine is a very personal one."

Corp'l Doris Duncan

There is a burst of flame near a gasoline tender being fueled from a flying school's huge tanks. Without hesitation, a girl races into a building that contains thousands of gallons... turns off the pump... returns quickly to her job as an airwoman equipment assistant. Disastrous explosion averted... a grateful Chief of Air Staff commends a pleasant-looking, quiet, young woman for her courage and resourcefulness. Cpl. Doris Duncan is her name... an Ottawa girl... hers is an Air Force family... her father, her brother... and her husband, a wireless air gunner.

Says Doris: "When war is over, our Victory Bonds will help us settle back in civilian life. Meantime, we're in uniform, and our dollars are serving Canada too."

Match their valour with your self-denial

These are only three among thousands of Canadian women who are proud to wear the uniform... who do the countless, vital tasks behind the front line... who add to the temper of Canada's hard-striking forces.

Canadian women on the "home front" have an obligation to back the Victory Loan in the same way that their sisters in uniform are backing our armed forces. Each housewife can buy additional Victory Bonds by even more careful budgeting... salary earners by purchasing bonds from accumulated savings and by payroll deductions. Your stake in victory is not less than that of the women in our armed forces... and they, too, buy Victory Bonds.
